“We have meanwhile set up a process and there are also independent institutions monitoring which objectives of our G7 meetings we actually achieve. When it comes to these goals we have a compliance rate of about 80%, according to the University of Toronto. Germany, with its 87%, comes off pretty well. That means that next year too, under the Japanese G7 presidency, we are going to check where we stand in comparison to what we have discussed with each other now. So a lot of what we have resolved to do here together is something that we are going to have to work very hard at over the next few months. But I think that it has become apparent that we, as the G7, want to assume responsibility far beyond the prosperity in our own countries. That’s why today’s outreach meetings, that is the meetings with our guests, were also of great importance.”

Chancellor Angela Merkel, Schloss Elmau, 8 June 2015

Preface

Each year since 1996, the G7 and G8 Research Group has produced a compliance report on the progress made by the G7/8 members in meeting the commitments their leaders issue at each summit. Since 2002, the group has usually published an interim report to assess progress during the transition from one host to the next, as well as the final report issued just before the annual summit. These reports, which monitor each G7/8 member's implementation of a carefully chosen selection of the many commitments announced at the end of each summit, are offered to the general public and to policy makers, academics, civil society, the media and interested citizens around the world in an effort to make the work of the G7/8 more transparent and accessible, and to provide scientific data to enable meaningful analysis of this unique and informal institution. Compliance reports are available at the G7 Information Centre at www.g7.utoronto.ca/compliance.

Based at the University of Toronto and founded in 1987, the mission of the G7 and G8 Research Group is to serve as the leading independent source of information and analysis on the institutions, performance, issues and participants of the G7/8 summit and system of global governance. It is an global network of scholars, students and professionals. The group oversees the G7 Information Centre, which publishes freely available research on the G7/8 as well as official documents issued by the G7/8.

For the 2015 Final Compliance Report, 21 priority commitments were selected from the 376 commitments made at the Schloss Elmau Summit, hosted by Germany from 7 to 8 June 2015. This report assesses the results of compliance with those commitments as of 6 May 2016.

To make its assessments, the G7 Research Group relies on publicly available information, documentation and media reports. To ensure the accuracy, comprehensiveness and integrity of these reports, we encourage comments and suggestions. Indeed, this is a living document, and the scores can be recalibrated if new material becomes available. All feedback remains anonymous and is not attributed. Responsibility for this report's contents lies exclusively with the authors and analysts of the G7 Research Group.

This report is produced entirely on a voluntary basis. It receives no direct financial support from any source, by a process insulated from the other major activities of the G7 Research Group, such as the "briefing book" produced by Newsdesk Media or the pre-summit conferences sponsored by various institutions.

The work of the G7 Research Group would not be possible without the steadfast dedication of many people around the world. This report is the product of a team of energetic and hard-working analysts led by Michael Humeniuk, chair of summit studies, as well as the co-directors of the Compliance Unit: Jerome Newton, Christian Medeiros, and Kaleem Hawa. It would also not be possible without the support of Dr. Ella Kokotsis, director of accountability, and Caroline Bracht, senior researcher. We are also indebted to the many people who provide feedback on our drafts, whose comments have been carefully considered in this report.

Executive Summary

The University of Toronto G7 Research Group's Final Compliance Report on the 2015 Schloss Elmau Summit assesses the compliance of the G7 members with 21 priority commitments of the 376 commitments they made at their summit in Germany on 7-8 June 2015. These selected commitments reflect the breadth of the summit agenda. The analysis covers actions taken by G7 members since the day after the summit until 6 May 2016. The commitments are listed in Table A.

The Final Compliance Score

Compliance is measured on a three-point scale. A score of +1 indicates full compliance with a commitment, a score of 0 indicates partial compliance or a work in progress, and a score of -1 indicates non-compliance as in a failure to comply or action taken that is directly opposite to the commitment.

The average final compliance scores are listed in Table B.

During the assessment period of 9 June 2015 to 6 May 2016, the average compliance score was +0.68 (84%), an increase from the score of +0.60 (80%) from the Interim Compliance Report, which assessed compliance at the midway point between the Schloss Elmau Summit in 2015 and the Ise Shima Summit on 26-27 May 2016. It is also an increase from the final score of +0.63 (82%) for the 2014 Brussels Summit.

Compliance by Member

The European Union is ranked first, with a compliance score of +1.00 (100%), followed by Germany at +0.90 (95%), the United Kingdom at +0.86 (93%) and the United States (+0.81/90%) (see Table C). These four members have maintained their ranking from the 2014 Brussels Summit compliance report. France's score was equal to the average of +0.67/83%. Japan and Canada (+0.48/74% each) and Italy (+0.24/62%) had below average scores.

Compliance by Commitment

The commitment to tackle the causes of refugee crises ranked first at +1.00 (100%) (see Table D). The commitment with the second highest compliance score at +0.88 (94%) was on macroeconomic policy to foster growth. This was followed by nine commitments (infrastructure investment, fiscal flexibility, the growth agenda, Ukraine, maritime security, migrant protection, health response coordination, national action plans on health, and the advancement of the Copenhagen Accord on climate change) with a score of +0.75 (88%).

The lowest-scoring commitment was on nonproliferation with respect to the Arms Trade Treaty (at +0.25/63%).

The Compliance Gap Between Members

The results from the 2015 Schloss Elmau Summit show a difference of 0.76 between the highest and lowest compliance scores. This gap is significantly larger than in previous years, although lower than the 0.83 of the interim compliance report. The spread was 0.44 in 2014 and 0.45 in 2013.

Future Research and Reports

The information contained within this report provides G7 members and other stakeholders with an indication of their compliance results during the 2015–16 period, which spans from 9 June 2015, immediately following the 2015 Schloss Elmau Summit, to 6 May 2016. As with previous compliance reports, this report has been produced as an invitation for others to provide additional or more complete information on country compliance. Comments are always welcomed and would be considered as part of an analytical reassessment. If so, please send your feedback to g8@utoronto.ca.
