Australia has fully complied with its commitment to work to ensure that the pandemic does not widen gender inequalities and undermine the progress made in recent decades.

On 25 November 2020, Minister for Families and Social Services Anne Ruston announced a provision of AUD1.125 million to be shared by three Indigenous organisations over the next two years to trial new family violence services in the Northern Territory.³⁶³⁰

On 11 December 2020, the National Federation Reform Council (NFRC) endorsed the terms of reference for the Women's Safety Taskforce.³⁶³¹ This is in line with Prime Minister Scott Morrison's announcement on 29 May 2020 concerning the establishment of an NFRC Taskforce on Women's Safety to reduce violence against women and their children.³⁶³²

On 30 December 2020, Prime Minister Morrison announced a provision of up to AUD36 million from the Indigenous Advancement Strategy over the next three years.³⁶³³ This fund will be used to deliver more girls academies to "support more than 5,600 Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander girls across the country."³⁶³⁴

On 26 February 2021, the Council of Australian Governments released the first progress report on the implementation of the Fourth Action Plan of the National Plan to Reduce Violence against Women and their Children 2010-2022.³⁶³⁵ The report stated the completion of 18 initiatives per original schedule and one initiative ahead of schedule.³⁶³⁶

the fight against violence.³⁷⁴⁵ The partnership integrates civil society with the actions of the MMFDH's Save a Women Project through the provision of information on different types of violence, training initiatives and educational campaigns aimed at Caixa employees, and public policies that promote equity and respect in the workplace.³⁷⁴⁶

On 18 August 2021, the Ministry of Justice and Public Security announced the launch of Operation Maria da Penha in collaboration with the MMFDH.³⁷⁴⁷ This operation, which lasts from 20 August 2021 to 20 September 2021, focuses on tackling domestic violence against women and improving the system of protection for victims.³⁷⁴⁸ This operation's actions will support assistance for victims of domestic violence and promote the importance of denouncing aggressions.³⁷⁴⁹

On 25 August 2021, the Head of the SNPM Cristiane Britto participated in an international webinar hosted by the Association of Business Women and Professionals of Latin America (BTW Latin America) on public policies to support women.³⁷⁵⁰ With representatives from nine other countries present at the webinar, Head of the SNPM Britto highlighted actions taken by the Government of Brazil to encourage complaints and strengthen protection and reception networks in Brazil in order to prevent and reduce cases of violence against women during the COVID-19 pandemic.³⁷⁵¹

Brazil has taken strong actions in all three spheres of Health, Economic Security and Gender-Based Violence to ensure that the pandemic does not widen gender inequalities. Brazil has focused on combating violence against women during the COVID-19 pandemic through funding additional safehouses, improving report hotlines such as Ligue 180, and introducing educational campaigns. Brazil has also focused on women's health through increasing access to quality prenatal or postnatal care, and on women's economic security through funding training programs and online courses to promote economic autonomy.

Thus, Brazil has received a score of +1.

Canada has fully complied with its commitment to work to ensure that the pandemic does not widen gender inequalities and undermine the progress made in recent decades.

On 7 December 2020, Minister of International Development Karina Gould announced at the virtual global conference “Strengthening Women’s Role in Building and Sustaining Peace: From Commitments to Results,” hosted by Vietnam and the United Nations, that Canada will be providing CAD8.5 million over five years to UN Women to empower women, prevent violence and promote social cohesion in Southeast Asia.³⁷⁵² This is part of a joint five year programme launched by Canada, the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) and UN Women to expand and strengthen women’s leadership and participation in conflict prevention, resolution and recovery in South-East Asia.³⁷⁵³ Canada’s financial commitment will help address gender equality and discrimination against women and girls in ASEAN member states, as targeted violence against women in Southeast Asia has been on the rise due to the COVID-19 pandemic.³⁷⁵⁴ The new programme reflects the commitment of ASEAN and Canada to promote gender equality and to respond to an increasingly widespread call across the globe for women to be empowered to lead and participate in peace and development.³⁷⁵⁵

On 8 December 2020, Minister of International Development Karina Gould announced in a meeting with the Ukrainian Canadian Congress, Canada’s support of four projects totalling over CAD25 million to advance the economic empowerment of rural women, internally displaced persons, persons with disabilities and other vulnerable groups in Ukraine.³⁷⁵⁶ Through investments, Canada aims to support the Government of Ukraine to enhance the economic security of women, especially those affected by the conflict in eastern Ukraine.³⁷⁵⁷

On 15 December 2020, Canada invested in 63 organizations to prevent human trafficking and to support survivors.³⁷⁵⁸ This funding will support these organizations in identifying and counselling survivors of trafficking, providing transition and second stage housing, mental health services, and employment services and supports, as well as training and tools to gain financial independence.³⁷⁵⁹ At the time of this announcement, Minister for Women and Gender Equality and for Rural Economic Development Maryam Monsef stated: “In the midst of the COVID-19 pandemic, it has become even more challenging to escape situations of human trafficking and to access supports, making the important work of organizations that provide these services even more essential.”³⁷⁶⁰

On 17 December 2020, Canada announced that an agreement has been reached with the Canada Women’s Foundation and Women’s Shelters Canada to provide funding, in the amount of CAD36.3 million, for gender-based violence support, to these frontline organizations.³⁷⁶¹ The funding will continue to help address the immediate needs of organizations that provide a range of gender-based violence supports and services, such as emergency helplines, crisis and resources centres, counselling support, crisis intervention, drop-in services and support groups.³⁷⁶² This funding towards these frontline organizations is in recognition of their increased demand, due to the high rates of gender-based violence against women and girls, that has intensified as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic.³⁷⁶³

On 28 January 2021, Parliamentary Secretary to the Minister of Public Safety and Emergency Preparedness Joel Lightbound announced an investment of CAD249,750 for the La Maison pour femmes immigrantes (House for Immigrant Women).³⁷⁶⁴ This funding is to allow the organization to continue to promote social and systemic changes towards gender equality and is focused on the needs of immigrant and Quebecer women and children victims of domestic violence living in the Quebec City region.³⁷⁶⁵

On 3 February 2021, Minister Monsef announced that up to CAD2.5 million in funding will be allocated for a new project named Advancing Gender Equity for Black Women and Girls in Canada

Through its increased investments in gender equality abroad, the creation of new programs at the domestic level that are focused on promoting the economic security and empowerment of women, and the multitude of investments into Canadian organizations that prevent and support victims of gender-based violence, Canada has taken strong actions in the spheres of Health, Economic Security and Gender-Based Violence at both the domestic and international levels and therefore, has fully complied with its commitment to ensure that the pandemic does not widen gender inequalities and undermine the progress made in recent decades.

Thus, Canada has received a score of +1.

China has taken some steps to help reduce gender inequalities exacerbated by the COVID-19 pandemic in regard to the Gender-Based Violence and Health spheres. However, China has not taken any meaningful steps to address gender inequalities in regard to the Economic Security sphere, nor has China made any meaningful international collaborative commitments to reduce gender inequalities exacerbated by the COVID-19 pandemic in any of the three spheres affecting women disproportionately (Health, Economic Security and/or Gender-Based Violence).

Thus, China receives a score of 0.

France has fully complied with its commitment to work to ensure that the pandemic does not widen gender inequalities and undermine the progress made in recent decades.

On 25 November 2020, Minister Delegate in charge of Citizenship Marlène Schiappa launched an initiative in partnership with TikTok to promote the website Arrêtons les Violence (Stop the Violence) on the TikTok app.³⁸⁴⁷ The website is used to report sexual and gender-based violence and the aim of the initiative is to allow young girls to find advice, their rights, laws, concrete cases as well as educational and awareness resources against domestic violence.³⁸⁴⁸

On 15 December 2020, Minister of Solidarity and Health Olivier Véran and Minister Delegate for Gender Equality, Diversity and Equal Opportunities at the Prime Minister's Office Élisabeth Moreno announced that an additional EUR4 million has been added to the government budget.³⁸⁴⁹ The aim is to help the government fight against menstrual insecurity in 2021 by increasing the accessibility of periodic protection, particularly women in precarious situations, for all women in France.³⁸⁵⁰ The additional funds brings the total budget for fighting menstrual insecurity to EUR5 million.³⁸⁵¹

On 16 February 2021, the National Assembly passed an anti-radicalism bill focused on tackling Islamist extremism and separatism.³⁸⁵² The bill, titled “Supporting respect for the principles of the republic” cracks down on a variety of practices not formally attached to a specific religion such as polygamy, forced marriages and banning virginity certificates and tests.³⁸⁵³ As indicated by the World Health Organization (WHO), virginity tests are a violation of women’s human rights since it is impossible to prove the occurrence of sexual intercourse by inspecting the hymen, either visually or physically.³⁸⁵⁴

On 23 February 2021, the Minister of Higher Education, Research and Innovation Frédérique Vidal announced that the Regional Centre for University and School Work university residences and university health services will all be equipped with free hygienic products.³⁸⁵⁵ The aim of this is to improve gender equality, class attendance and subsequently lead to improved employment and education for women and girls.³⁸⁵⁶

On 25 February 2021, France, the WHO and the non-governmental organization Women in Global Health, launched a new global initiative on the position of women in the health and care sector.³⁸⁵⁷ The initiative was created in response to the gender pay-gap and position disparity highlighted between men and women in the health sector by the pandemic.³⁸⁵⁸ The initiative aims to introduce measures to accomplish the following in the health sector: increase the number of women in leadership positions, get unpaid work recognized and reduce the gender pay gap, protect women against gender-based violence at work and guarantee safe working conditions.³⁸⁵⁹ Regarding this initiative, Minister Véran has stated that “promoting the position of women, who play a crucial role at the heart of our health systems and are often the first to be affected by growing inequality, is more necessary than ever... this initiative is a further step towards tangible gender equality in the health and care sector.”³⁸⁶⁰

On 8 March 2021, the French National Standards Association (AFNOR), the Ministry for Europe and Foreign Affairs, the Ministry for the Economy, Finance and the Recovery and the Ministry for Gender Equality, Diversity and Equal Opportunity launched an initiative aimed at establishing an international standard on gender equality.³⁸⁶¹ The goal of this initiative is to create a normative reference, entitled AFNOR-SPEC, that will constitute a technical guide detailing the best practices relating to the internal and external activities undertaken by public and private French organizations.³⁸⁶² The guide will cover the following topics: education, health and sexual reproductive rights, prevention and elimination of gender-based violence, the rights of women and girls and female economic empowerment.³⁸⁶³

On 29 March 2021, France and Mexico co-chaired the first portion of the Generation Equality Forum.³⁸⁶⁴ This first portion happened in Mexico City from 29 March 2021 until 31 March 2021, and the second portion is scheduled to occur on 30 June 2021 until 2 July 2021 in Paris, France.³⁸⁶⁵ Convened by UN Women in response to the effect that COVID has had on women and girls, the forum is a civil-society driven event that brings together civil society, public authorities, local government, the private sector and the media.³⁸⁶⁶ The purpose of the forum is to develop partnerships that will allow countries to swiftly implement large scale actions addressing gender equality.³⁸⁶⁷

On 31 March 2021, France and 20 countries (Argentina, Canada, Chile, Costa Rica, Finland, Germany, Japan, Korea, Ireland, Lebanon, Mexico, Norway, the Netherlands, Panama, South Africa, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, the United Kingdom and Uruguay) established the “Group of Friends for Gender Equality,” following Mexico’s leadership.³⁸⁶⁸ This group aims at centralizing public

On 15 April 2021, the National Assembly voted unanimously to pass legislation that increased the minimum age of sexual consent in France to 15 years of age.³⁸⁷⁰ According to the legislation, sexual relations with anyone under the age of 15 is considered to be rape and is punishable by up to 20 years in prison.³⁸⁷¹ The legislation was introduced as a way of preventing future instances of sexual assault.³⁸⁷²

On 12 May 2021, 61 Members of Parliament (MPs) present in the National Assembly voted unanimously to pass a draft law that would require companies with more than 1,000 employees to ensure women hold 40 per cent of top management posts by 2030.³⁸⁷³ The goal of the bill is to improve gender equality by putting in place measures such as introducing an equality index in higher education institutions along with more mixed juries to fight gender bias and providing single-women with children with training and reserved places in nurseries.³⁸⁷⁴

On 30 June 2021, the Government of France committed EUR100 million in sexual and reproductive health and rights for the next five years at the Paris-held Generation Equality Forum (GEF).³⁸⁷⁵ This commitment includes EUR90 million for the United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA) supplies, EUR5 million for Shaping Equitable Market Access for Reproductive Health (SEMA) and EUR5 million to the Global Partnership Forum on Comprehensive Sexuality Education.³⁸⁷⁶

On 2 July 2021, Minister of Labour, Employment and Economic Inclusion Elisabeth Borne participated in the Paris-held GEF and reaffirmed that the Government of France views ratifying the International Labour Organization's Convention 190 as a political priority.³⁸⁷⁷ This ILO Convention of the Government of Indonesia to take similar action in providing specific assistance to women affected by the COVID-19 pandemic.⁴⁰⁰⁹

On 7 September 2021, the Kemen PPPA hosted the Gender Perspective Entrepreneurship Training Activities for Vulnerable Women in Kupang Regency, East Nusa Tenggara with the support of the Association of Small Business Women Facilitators (ASPPUK).⁴⁰¹⁰ This event is for vulnerable women who have survived violence and disasters, and women who are heads of families, in order for them to be economically independent so that they can contribute to improving the welfare of their families.⁴⁰¹¹ This event will also be held for vulnerable women groups in Central Lombok Regency, West Nusa Tenggara.⁴⁰¹²

Indonesia has fully complied with their commitment to reduce gender inequalities exacerbated by the COVID-19 pandemic, in all three spheres of Health, Economic Security and Gender-Based Violence, affecting women disproportionately through financial support of educational, employment and health programs related to gender-based violence.

Thus, Indonesia receives a score of +1.

Korea has taken strong actions towards reducing gender inequalities exacerbated by the COVID-19 pandemic in all three spheres of Health, Economic Security and Gender-Based Violence through allocating financial resources to international projects supporting women's health and security, increasing access to affordable childcare services, enacting provisions to reduce economic shocks, and introducing national plans to eliminate violence against women.

Thus, Korea receives a score of +1.

time.⁴²⁵¹ According to INMUJERES, "with radical changes that promote cultural and social change; greater equality will be generated in homes and consequently less violence."⁴²⁵²

On 26 August 2021, the INMUJERES held a meeting of "governors, federal and local deputies, municipal presidents and mayors elected in 2021" with the purpose of creating an agenda with concrete commitments to "close inequality gaps."⁴²⁵³ Some of the commitments were towards gender-based violence and the overload of care as well as household work on women.⁴²⁵⁴ The agenda also included the promotion of "effective and equal" female participation in decision making across the political, social, community and private spheres; and the provision of tools to promote women's economic independence.⁴²⁵⁵

On 13 September 2021, the Government of Mexico included the "gender perspective" in the income policy of the Economic Package 2022 and made an investment of more than 232 billion pesos in Annex 13 "Expenditures for Equality between Women and Men."⁴²⁵⁶ In total, the expenditures for equality include 12 priority programs of the Government of the Fourth Transformation and 21 strategic programs to promote gender equality and women's human rights.⁴²⁵⁷ These programs include initiatives to Prevent and Eradicate Violence Against Women (Conavim), measures to promote sexual and reproductive health, and support for the well-being of the children of working mothers.⁴²⁵⁸ Another relevant aspect of the 2022 Economic Package refers to the financial inclusion of women through financial programs, the promotion of women's employment as a central and strategic element for the growth and productivity of the country (with a focus on their access to more productive jobs and with better wages) and the promotion of a zero rate for sanitary products such as feminine pads.⁴²⁵⁹

Mexico has taken strong actions to reduce gender inequalities exacerbated by the COVID-19 pandemic in the spheres of Gender-Based Violence and Economic Security, through programs aimed at female poverty, wage inequality, and cooperation with other countries. Furthermore, Mexico has taken strong actions in the Health sphere through new policies supporting women's sexual and reproductive rights.

Thus, Mexico receives a score of +1.

education.⁴²⁹² The Council of the Eurasian Women's Forum (EWF) has advocated for the inclusion of financial literacy in education for several years in order to encourage increased financial inclusion for women and girls in Russia.⁴²⁹³ The introduction of the foundations of financial literacy in educational school curricula is aimed at generating interest in finance among girls and women, help them gain necessary financial competences and “ensure their financial stability in the future.”⁴²⁹⁴

On 20 July 2021, the Chairwoman of the Federation Council Valentina Matviyenko virtually participated and delivered a video message at the Shanghai Cooperation Organization (SCO) Forum on Education and Poverty Reduction among women, which discussed the impacts of the pandemic on education and economic status for women and girls.⁴²⁹⁵ Chairwoman Matviyenko shared some of the Government of Russia's on-going and future national-level projects designed to advance gender equality, through the development of women's entrepreneurship and the involvement of women in the technological field.⁴²⁹⁶

Russia has partially complied with its commitment to ensure that the COVID-19 pandemic does not widen gender inequalities and undermine the progress made in recent decades, including high-level political meetings that demonstrate a willingness to discuss and address some of the issues facing women and girls, the announcement of new financial supports for pregnant women and single-parent families, and the work of the Council of the Eurasian Women's Forum, with support from the government, to increase women's Economic Security. However, Russia has not taken any concrete actions to reduce the gender inequalities caused by COVID-19 in the Health sphere, nor has Russia implemented any tangible policies that address the prevention of Gender-Based Violence or offer support to women and girls who have survived such violence.

Thus, Russia receives a score of 0.

On 31 August 2021, the Minister of Mineral Resources and Energy Gwede Mantashe launched the Women Empowerment and Gender Equality (WEGE) Strategy to support women in becoming active participants in the energy industry in South Africa.⁴⁴¹¹ The five-year strategy contains four strategic pillars: enabling environment, equality of opportunities, gender mainstreaming, and barrier free workplaces.⁴⁴¹²

On 1 September 2021, Acting Deputy Director-General of Industrial Financing at the Department of Trade, Industry and Competition Susan Mangole participated in the panel discussion of the Women in Public Sector Webinar.⁴⁴¹³ This panel discussion’s theme was “tackling gender boundaries and changing the narrative on women in leadership.”⁴⁴¹⁴ Acting Deputy Director-General Mangole rallied women to build the economy, take advantage of interest-free loans and grants and also emphasized the importance of providing supports to empower women.⁴⁴¹⁵

South Africa has taken strong concrete actions in reducing gender inequalities exacerbated by the COVID-19 pandemic in regard to the Gender-Based Violence sphere with new technical committees, funding for support services and increased security measures for women, but South Africa has only taken limited actions in regard to the Health and Economic Security spheres.

Thus, South Africa has received a score of 0.

project receiving a share of up to GBP7.6 million across three years.⁴⁴⁶⁵ This fund aims to reduce health inequalities in the UK.⁴⁴⁶⁶

On 1 February 2021, the UK confirmed an additional GBP40 million to a previously GBP99.5 million funding commitment to help victims of rape and domestic abuse during the pandemic and beyond.⁴⁴⁶⁷ Out of the GBP40 million funding, GBP20.7 million will go to local, community-based services, GBP16 million to adviser recruitment, GBP2 million to small specialist organizations and GBP1.3 million to remote and online services.⁴⁴⁶⁸ In addition, the UK Government also launched the #ItStillMatters campaign that aims to “raise awareness amongst victims and survivors [of domestic abuse] of the support available.”⁴⁴⁶⁹

On 12 February 2021, Minister for Rough Sleeping and Housing Eddie Hughes announced an allocation of GBP125 million to councils across England to support domestic abuse victims and their children.⁴⁴⁷⁰ The fund will go to ensure access to life-saving support, including “therapy, advocacy and counselling in safe accommodation.”⁴⁴⁷¹ This funding is for a new legal duty on councils to ensure victims and their children are able to access adequate support in safe accommodation as part of the government’s Domestic Abuse Bill to come into effect in several months.⁴⁴⁷²

On 23 February 2021, the Equality and Human Rights Commission (EHRC) granted employers a six-month extension to 5 October 2021 to report their gender pay gap information.⁴⁴⁷³ The gender pay gap regulation enforcement is aimed to encourage employers to ‘demonstrate the steps they are taking to reduce long-term pay gaps through detailed action plans.’⁴⁴⁷⁴ If employers fail to report their gender pay gap data, the EHRC has the power to investigate and impose unlimited fines on

United States: +1

The United States has fully complied with its commitment to work to ensure that the pandemic does not widen gender inequalities and undermine the progress made in recent decades.

On 25 November 2020, Secretary of State Mike Pompeo released a statement on the International Day for the Elimination of Violence Against Women, affirming the United States' commitment to end violence against women, stand with and empower survivors, and emerge from the COVID-19 pandemic stronger than before.⁴⁵¹³ Pompeo acknowledged that the COVID-19 pandemic has disproportionately affected women in the fields of gender-based violence and job insecurity, and pledged to improve circumstances for women in this regard.⁴⁵¹⁴

On 4 January 2021, the Department of Labor awarded USD4 million in grant funding to the International Labor Organization “to improve worker rights in rural sectors of the Indo-Pacific with a focus on women’s rights.”⁴⁵¹⁵ The project “seeks to improve compliance with labor standards, including occupational safety and health standards, and to address wage inequality and workplace discrimination against women in targeted rural sectors in the Philippines and other Indo-Pacific countries.”⁴⁵¹⁶

On 14 January 2021, the Department of State announced the launch of the United Women’s Economic Development Network, which will “advance women’s economic empowerment and entrepreneurship, a major facet of US foreign policy, in line with the White House-led Women’s Global Development and Prosperity Initiative.”⁴⁵¹⁷ The network will focus on providing entrepreneurship, networking and cross-country partnership opportunities for businesswomen.⁴⁵¹⁸

On 22 January 2021, the Department of Justice announced a grant of USD5.3 million for “Training and Services to End Violence Against Women with Disabilities.”⁴⁵¹⁹ The grant seeks to support groups and organizations involved in response to disabled women who are victims of gender-based violence including sexual assault and domestic violence.⁴⁵²⁰ This grant will provide training and resources to improve the capacity of and collaboration between these organizations.⁴⁵²¹

On 28 January 2021, President Joseph Biden signed a Presidential Memorandum allocating USD32.5 million to the United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA), which helps protect vulnerable women and girls.⁴⁵²² Secretary of State Antony Blinken noted that the UNFPA will “help improve the lives of women and children around the world by expanding the base of partners implementing US health assistance and increasing access to critical health services, including HIV/AIDS care for key populations, family planning information and services, and effective tuberculosis diagnosis and treatment.”⁴⁵²³ Secretary of State Blinken particularly highlighted the importance of increasing women’s access to healthcare in the context of the COVID-19 pandemic, which he noted has disproportionately affected women.⁴⁵²⁴

On 25 February 2021, the Department of Labor awarded a USD5 million grant to Cooperative for Assistance and Relief Everywhere for their efforts to “reduce child labor in Ethiopia’s coffee fields using a gender-focused approach.”⁴⁵²⁵ It pledges to “work with vulnerable women and girls in the country’s coffee sector to challenge community social norms and traditions that promote child labor and gender inequality, and transform structures such as laws, policies and institutions to be more gender equitable and help reduce child labor there.”⁴⁵²⁶ The project focuses on women’s labour rights and improved economic outcomes for women and girls.⁴⁵²⁷

On 26 February 2021, the Department of Defense announced an independent review commission on sexual assault in the military.⁴⁵²⁸ The commission will focus on holding those who committed acts of sexual violence in the military accountable as well as reviewing the “climate [and] culture” of the

The United States has taken strong actions towards reducing gender inequalities exacerbated by the COVID-19 pandemic in regard to all three spheres of Health, Economic Security, and Gender-Based Violence through funding programs supporting maternal and prenatal healthcare, allocating grants to encourage women’s participation in various labor sectors, and changing administrative processes on cases of sexual assaults.

Thus, the United States receives a score of +1.

European Union: +1

The European Union has fully complied with its commitment to work to ensure that the pandemic does not widen gender inequalities and undermine the progress made in recent decades.

On 24 November 2020, the European Institute for Gender Equality (EIGE) published a handbook to help eliminate sexism in the workplace, specifically in EU institutions and agencies.⁴⁵⁶⁸ The aim of this handbook is to help organizations ensure that both women and men employees feel safe, respected and fulfilled in the workplace.⁴⁵⁶⁹

On 25 November 2020, the European Commission and the High Representative of the Union for Foreign Affairs and Security Policy introduced the EU’s new Action Plan on Gender Equality and Women’s Empowerment in External Action 2021-2025 (GAP III), which aims to promote gender equality and women’s empowerment in all external actions of the EU.⁴⁵⁷⁰ The GAP III details that at least 85 per cent of all new actions throughout the EU’s external relations will contribute to gender equality and women’s empowerment by 2025 with a specific focus on fighting gender-based violence and promoting the socio-economic and political empowerment of women and girls.⁴⁵⁷¹ The GAP III

also places renewed emphasis on universal access to healthcare, including sexual and reproductive health services for women and girls.⁴⁵⁷²

On 9 December 2020, the European Union and the Tony Elumelu Foundation formed a EUR20 million partnership to support more than 2,500 African women entrepreneurs through increased access to finance and venture capital investment.⁴⁵⁷³ The initiative addresses barriers such as funding, knowledge, and market constraints through gender-sensitive entrepreneurship training and seed capital for female-run businesses.⁴⁵⁷⁴ The goal of this program is to “help women participate in economic development, realise their full potential and accelerate economic inclusion.”⁴⁵⁷⁵

On 27 January 2021, the European Commission and the Organization of African, Caribbean and Pacific States signed a new initiative of EUR14.5 million with the United Nations Capital Development Fund in order to support the potential of digital finance.⁴⁵⁷⁶ This initiative is aimed at increasing access to digital technology and financial literacy tools for more than 600,000 women, youth and entrepreneurs living in African, Caribbean and Pacific countries.⁴⁵⁷⁷ The initiative hopes to enhance the capacity of women and youth living in these regions to absorb economic shocks due to the impacts of the COVID-19 pandemic.⁴⁵⁷⁸

On 8 February 2021, the European Commission launched an open public consultation on a new legislative initiative to better support victims and prosecute perpetrators of gender-based violence.⁴⁵⁷⁹ The European Commission launched this consultation to gather the views of the public on the measures taken by the EU member states to address gender-based violence against women and domestic violence.⁴⁵⁸⁰

On 4 March 2021, the EU adopted an Action Plan to implement the European Pillar of Social Rights, which puts gender equality at its core and establishes, amongst others, targets for women’s participation in the labour market.⁴⁵⁸¹ The document specifically states that the EU will dedicate an overall budget of EUR1.55 billion to the Citizens, Equality, Rights and Values Programme, which will promote “gender equality, equal treatment and equal rights of all in order to promote more democratic, diverse and open societies.”⁴⁵⁸²

On 4 March 2021, the European Commission presented a proposal on pay discrimination and transparency to ensure that women and men in the EU receive equal pay for equal work.⁴⁵⁸³ The legislative proposal introduces enforcement mechanics focusing on two core elements of equal pay: measures to ensure pay transparency for workers and employers as well as better access to justice for victims of pay discrimination.⁴⁵⁸⁴

On 5 March 2021, the European Commission released the 2021 Report on Gender Equality in the EU.⁴⁵⁸⁵ The document outlines the European Union’s policy objectives around gender inequality and highlights the available data on the gendered impact of the COVID-19 crisis for each area of the strategy policy.⁴⁵⁸⁶ The document specifically states that the Commission will put forward a Recommendation on the prevention of harmful practices against women related to Female Genital Mutilation as announced in the Gender Equality Strategy.⁴⁵⁸⁷ The report also states that the Commission continues to fund projects tackling FGM through the EU’s Rights, Equality and Citizenship programme, and its successor, the Citizens, Equality, Rights and Values program.⁴⁵⁸⁸ To improve monitoring and tracking progress of each of the 27 EU member states on meeting the Gender Equality Strategy, the European Commission launched a Gender Equality Strategy Monitoring Portal, which is accessible to the general public.⁴⁵⁸⁹

On 5 March 2021, the European Union adopted a EUR130 million assistance package through the Regional Trust Fund in Response to the Syrian crisis in order to support Syrian refugees and local communities in Jordan and Lebanon through social protection and healthcare services.⁴⁵⁹⁰ The support package for Lebanon includes EUR45 million for social protection and assistance of the most vulnerable in Lebanon and the development of a comprehensive national social protection system, EUR29 million to increase access to healthcare services, and EUR10 million to increase

On 5 March 2021, the EIGE released its report on the COVID-19 outbreak between March 2020 to September 2020 and on cases concerning intimate partner violence against women in the EU.⁴⁵⁹³ This report provides recommendations for the EU and its member states on how to better support and protect victims of gender-based violence during the COVID-19 pandemic.⁴⁵⁹⁴

On 15 March 2021, the European Commission, Argentina and Namibia issued a joint statement at the General Discussion of the Commission on the Status of Women.⁴⁵⁹⁵ The statement reaffirmed the need to ensure compliance with international obligations on gender equality and the need to eradicate the feminization of poverty and violence against women and girls.⁴⁵⁹⁶

On 24 March 2021, the European Economic and Social Committee (EESC) adopted the exploratory opinion titled, “Challenges of Teleworking: organization of working time, work life balance and the right to disconnect.”⁴⁵⁹⁷ In this opinion, the EESC focused on the risk of teleworking serving as a double burden of paid and unpaid work and the unequal division of domestic work between women and men.⁴⁵⁹⁸ The EESC urged all EU member states to promptly implement the Work-Life Balance Directive and a “Care Deal for Europe,” which makes available accessible and affordable care services for children and other people with special needs.⁴⁵⁹⁹ This opinion recognizes the need to urgently address the effects of telework on gender inequality in order to better support women’s economic security during the COVID-19 pandemic.⁴⁶⁰⁰ traffickers to justice, and protecting and empowering victims.⁴⁶⁰¹ The Strategy focuses on women and children and seeks to improve early identification of victims, strengthen referrals for additional assistance or protection, enhance victim empowerment programs and facilitate reintegration through gender-specific and child-sensitive training of police officers, social workers, border guards and healthcare staff.⁴⁶⁰² This Strategy recognizes that women and children are the most vulnerable to trafficking and sexual violence, and thus, must be prioritized.⁴⁶⁰³

On 11 May 2021, Members of the European Parliament (MEPs) in the Committee on Women's Rights and Gender Equality approved a report recognizing that the right to health, specifically sexual and reproductive health rights (SRHR), are fundamental women's rights and cannot be watered down or withdrawn in any manner.⁴⁶⁰⁴ The MEPs called on all EU member states to ensure access to high quality SRHR and to remove all barriers impeding full access to them, which includes the guaranteed access to safe and legal abortion.⁴⁶⁰⁵

On 24 June 2021, the European Parliament voted in a plenary session to adopt a report calling for EU member states to ensure universal access for women's sexual and reproductive health and rights.⁴⁶⁰⁶ The report recognizes the negative impact that the COVID-19 pandemic has had on women's health and rights and urges member states to ensure access to safe and legal abortion as well as high-quality contraceptive methods and family counseling.⁴⁶⁰⁷ The report emphasizes the need for comprehensive sexuality education for primary and secondary school children to help reduce sexual violence and harassment.⁴⁶⁰⁸ Members of the European Parliament also endorsed exemptions for value-added tax (VAT) on menstrual products.⁴⁶⁰⁹

On 2 July 2021, President Ursula von der Leyen announced that the EU will be providing at least EUR4 billion in its 2021-2027 long-term budget for women's and girls' empowerment at the Paris-held Generation Equality Forum, the UN Women-convened summit to accelerate gender equality investments.⁴⁶¹⁰ President von der Leyen also pledged to propose new legislation by the end of 2021 to combat gender-based violence and hate crimes against LGBTIQ people, as well as adding all forms of hate crimes to the list of crimes in the EU treaties.⁴⁶¹¹

On 10 September 2021, the EU pledged to invest USD8.5 million until December 2022 to the Spotlight Initiative, which aims to end violence against women and girls.⁴⁶¹² The investment will be used by the Government of Mozambique to fund interventions addressing violence against women and girls in Gaza, Manica and Nampula Provinces of Mozambique.⁴⁶¹³ These interventions will include community engagement to change social norms, improving case management for delivery of essential services to survivors of violence, improving data collection and management, and investment in longer-term recovery services and economic opportunities for women and girls experiencing violence.⁴⁶¹⁴ The EU Ambassador Antonio Sánchez-Benedito Gaspar said “we, the European Union, remain committed to supporting gender equality in Mozambique, through joint efforts with the Government, the United Nations and Civil Society Organizations, in this tireless fight to pass the message that gender-based violence by no means should be accepted and that it can be combated.”⁴⁶¹⁵

On 16 September 2021, members of the European Parliament (MEPs) adopted a legislative initiative with 427 votes in favour, 119 against, and 140 abstentions, demanding targeted legislation and policies to address all forms of violence and discrimination based on gender, whether offline or online.⁴⁶¹⁶ The legislation would include prevention measures (through gender-sensitive and intersectional education programming), support services, measures to end all forms of gender-based violence, as well as cooperation among EU member states and the exchange of best practices, information, and expertise.⁴⁶¹⁷ After this session, European Commission President von der Leyen told MEPs that, by the end of the year, the Commission will propose a law to combat violence against women which will include prevention, protection, and effective prosecution, both online and offline.⁴⁶¹⁸

The European Union has taken strong concrete actions towards reducing gender inequalities exacerbated by the COVID-19 pandemic in regard to all three spheres of Health, Economic Security and Gender-Based Violence spheres through budgetary re-allocations for women empowerment, adopting plans to ensure universal access to women's sexual and reproductive health, and funding international projects to combat gender-based violence.

Thus, the European Union receives a score of +1.

Background

Women’s active participation in the economy is crucial for economic growth and sustainable development around the world.⁴⁶¹⁹ Despite considerable efforts in progress, many women are currently still left out of the labour markets.⁴⁶²⁰ Data from the International Labour Organization (ILO) indicates that the average rate of labour force participation for men, aged 25 to 54, is almost twice the number for women from the same age group.⁴⁶²¹ Meanwhile, they are overrepresented in unpaid work, including household activities and childcare and temporary employment under precarious conditions.⁴⁶²²

According to UN Women, women are often paid less than men, resulting in a “gender wage gap” of an estimated 23 per cent.⁴⁶²³ In addition, mothers face a potential “motherhood wage penalty,” meaning a fall in pay due to childbirth, which rises with the number of children (or the number of periods of maternal leave).⁴⁶²⁴ They also encounter more disadvantages when planning to start businesses and thus less likely to eventually become entrepreneurs than their male counterparts.⁴⁶²⁵

Increasing women's participation in economic and entrepreneurial activities is essential for achieving gender equality, which underpins the efforts towards realizing the United Nations 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development.⁴⁶²⁶ The 2018 World Economic Forum stated that “empowering women to participate equally in the global economy could add [USD28 trillion] in GDP growth by 2025.”⁴⁶²⁷

The G20 recognizes and repeatedly emphasize the importance of engaging women's participation in the global economy. At the 2009 London Summit, the G20 leaders first declared a commitment to promote gender equality, agreeing to “build a fair and family-friendly labour market for both women and men.”⁴⁶²⁸ They recognized that challenges to the world economy affect “the lives of women, men and children in every country,” with disproportionate impacts on the poorest and the most vulnerable population and called for a joint resolution to enable recovery and reform from economic crises.⁴⁶²⁹

At the 2010 Summits in Toronto and Seoul, the G20 started to pay special attention to the promotion of gender equality and inclusive economic growth. In the Seoul Development Consensus for Shared Growth, the G20 leaders committed to promoting gender equality together.⁴⁶³⁰ They then endeavoured to identify the impact of “gender gaps” as part of the “barriers to increasing investment in skills development and productivity” in the Multi-Year Action Plan on Development.⁴⁶³¹

At the 2012 Los Cabos Summit, the G20 Leaders committed to taking “concrete actions to overcome the barriers hindering women's full economic social participation and to expand economic opportunities for women in G20 economies,” which includes access to financial services and financial education.⁴⁶³² The Los Cabos Summit importantly marked the first time for the G20 leaders to dedicate separate commitments and promise concrete steps towards removing barriers and expanding opportunities for women's full economic participation in society.⁴⁶³³

At the 2013 St Petersburg Summit, G20 leaders committed to assisting women to overcome barriers to find and remain in employment, outlining specific measures to increase financial inclusion and financial literacy for women and girls through collaborations with the OECD/International Network for Financial Education (INFE) and the World Bank Group.⁴⁶³⁴ In the 2014 Brisbane Action Plan, the G20 again committed to promoting greater participation and better quality for women's employment in the labour market, aiming to reduce the gap of labour force participation rates between men and women in G20 member countries by 25 per cent by 2025 and to "bring more than 100 million women into the labour force."⁴⁶³⁵ This marked the first time G20 members agreed to a timeline and incorporated numeric targets to improve women's economic participation.

The G20 established an official engagement group, named "Women 20 (W20)," during the 2015 Antalya Summit cycle to further efforts in achieving gender equality and women's economic empowerment.⁴⁶³⁶ The 2016 Hangzhou Summit then marked the first time the G20 Leaders committed to supporting policies that encourage greater participation of women entrepreneurs and women-led firms in the global economy.⁴⁶³⁷

The 2017 Hamburg Summit outlined the establishment of several initiatives in support of women's entrepreneurship and marked the first time the G20 Leaders dedicated a separate section to specify their commitments in "Women's Empowerment."⁴⁶³⁸ They recognized that equal access to economic opportunities is fundamental for achieving gender equality, which forms a prerequisite for sustainable and inclusive growth.⁴⁶³⁹ Between the years 2017 and 2018, the G20 members launched the #eSkills4Girls initiative to promote opportunities and equal participation for women and girls in the digital economy via enhanced access to information and communication technology (ICT) and STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics).⁴⁶⁴⁰ They also established Women Entrepreneurs Financing Initiative (We-Fi), hosted by the World Bank Group, to reduce barriers to financial inclusion and enhance women's access to capital, markets and technical assistance.⁴⁶⁴¹ Additionally, they organized a Business Women Leaders' Taskforce to explore methods to increase women's economic participation and make relevant recommendations at the 2018 Buenos Aires Summit.⁴⁶⁴²

At the 2019 Osaka Summit, the G20 Leaders placed significant emphasis on women's empowerment. They committed to addressing the "gender gap in unpaid care work," which they identified as a major obstacle that impedes women's participation in the labour market.⁴⁶⁴³

At the 2020 Riyadh Summit, albeit held virtually due to the COVID-19 pandemic, the G20 Leaders echoed the relevant UN declarations and the 2019 Osaka summit in many aspects of women's empowerment.⁴⁶⁴⁴ They reaffirmed the importance of women’s and girl’s empowerment and recognized the enhancement of women’s participation as a key driver of economic growth.⁴⁶⁴⁵ They also committed to further action to reduce gender pay gaps and combat stereotypes to end all forms of discrimination against women, including gender-based violence.⁴⁶⁴⁶ Under the Saudi Presidency, the G20 commenced the Private Sector Alliance for the Empowerment and Progression of Women’s Economic Representation (EMPOWER) for women’s advancement in leadership positions in the realm.⁴⁶⁴⁷

Commitment Features

The G20 commitment is to take steps to remove the barriers to women’s 1) economic participation and 2) entrepreneurship.⁴⁶⁴⁸ As the world continues to experience setbacks from the COVID-19 pandemic, the G20 Leaders also promised actions to mitigate any widening of gender inequalities or undermining of the progress over recent decades.⁴⁶⁴⁹ The goal of the commitment is to eliminate any impediment to increasing the overall level of women’s participation in the labour market and enhancing the quality of their employment, while assisting women in any entrepreneurial endeavours.

“To take steps” means to take any form of particular action towards the realization of a proposed goal. These actions can include, but not limited to, initiating new programs, implementing new policies, voicing verbal support and reinforcing existing efforts to eliminate things that prevent women from participating in the labour market and entrepreneurship.

“To remove” is understood to mean the elimination of gender-based hardship for women’s full participation in the economy and successful entrepreneurship. “Barriers” is understood to mean any obstacles that undermine women’s ability to fully participate in the labour market and global economy, as well as to engage and achieve success in entrepreneurship.

“Women” refers to female persons aged 15 and above, who are either employed, unemployed or absent in the labour force.⁴⁶⁵⁰ Furthermore, the extent of “women’s economic participation” in society uses labour force participation rate as the main indicator; it measures the proportion of a country’s working-age female population that actively engages in the labour market, including those working and looking for work.⁴⁶⁵¹

“Entrepreneurship” is understood to mean any commercial activity conducted by an independent business owner for profits.

According to the ILO, there are two levels of women's economic participation: 1) employment and 2) management.⁴⁶⁵² Therefore, both the unemployment and underemployment of women reflect these obstacles. On the one hand, unemployment refers to the gap between female share in the working-age population and female share in employment, illustrating "hurdles to access paid work."⁴⁶⁵³ On the other hand, underemployment indicates the gap between female share in employment and female share in the management, underscoring the existence of a "glass ceiling."⁴⁶⁵⁴ An action that addresses both elements would have more breadth than another action that only addresses either element. Moreover, an action that brings structural reform beneficial for the promotion of gender equality in the long term would have more breadth than another remedial measure aimed to undo the damage due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

As well, this commitment has a depth component of how strong the action taken by the G20 member is. A G20 member must take significant action on both the domestic and international levels for full compliance. If a G20 member only takes partial action on one or both levels, it would only be considered partial compliance. Partial actions could include verbal reaffirmation of the commitment or attending meetings that discuss women's economic participation and entrepreneurship. For strong actions, a G20 would have to initiate a program or new law, contribute financial or technical assistance or implement policy changes to remove gender-based barriers by promoting women's full participation in the labour market and economy and implementing specific measures to promote women's engagement and success in entrepreneurship.

Women entrepreneurs encounter certain gender-based barriers to the initiation and growth of their businesses; these disadvantages can include, while not limited to, discriminatory property, matrimonial and inheritance laws and/or cultural practices, limitations on mobility, lack of voice and representation and unequal shares of family and household responsibilities. The G20 members should also recognize that women entrepreneurs are not a homogenous group.⁴⁶⁵⁵

To achieve full compliance, G20 members must take concrete actions to eradicate obstacles for women's full participation in the labour market and economy, as well as implement specific measures to promote women's engagement and success in entrepreneurship. Efforts to remove gender-based barriers to women's full participation in the labour market and economy include both initiatives to address "hurdles to access paid work" and "glass ceiling."⁴⁶⁵⁶ These steps feature social policies and programs that increase women's labour force participation rate, reduce the gender pay gap, improve work conditions, enhance access to paid full-time employment, eliminate gender stereotypes, encourage the equal division of household and childcare responsibilities, promote representation of women in leadership positions and more.⁴⁶⁵⁷ Efforts to remove barriers to women's engagement and success in entrepreneurship include social policies and programs that enable women entrepreneurs' access to commercial credits from formal financial service providers, more lucrative markets, ongoing training in aspects like finance and technology and more.⁴⁶⁵⁸

Partial compliance entails the G20 member’s ability to take action to remove gender-based barriers in at least one of the objectives: either the improvement of women’s full participation in the economy or the implementation of social policies that enhance the business environment for female entrepreneurs. For a score of non-compliance, the G20 member has completed none of the aforementioned criteria.

Scoring Guidelines

|----|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| -1 | G20 member does NOT take any action to remove barriers to women’s full participation in the labour market and economy NOR does it implement any specific measure to promote women’s engagement and success in entrepreneurship. |
| 0 | G20 member partially removes gender-based barriers by promoting women’s full participation in the labour market and economy OR implementing specific measures to promote women’s engagement and success in entrepreneurship. |
| +1 | G20 member fully removes gender-based barriers by promoting to women’s full participation in the labour market and economy AND implementing specific measures to promote women’s engagement and success in entrepreneurship. |

Argentina: +1

Argentina has fully complied with its commitment to to remove the barriers to women’s economic participation and entrepreneurship.

On 24 November 2020, the National Administration of Social Security enacted Resolution 418/2020, which aimed to ensure that non-sexist language is used in all official documentation within the national administration.⁴⁶⁵⁹ The goal of this resolution is to work towards creating an official environment where gender does not play a role in hindering any individual’s (especially women’s) economic opportunities.⁴⁶⁶⁰

On 18 December 2020, the Matanza Riachuelo Basin Authority enacted Resolution 275/2020, which mandated the procedure of appointing representatives to their Board of Directors to consider gender parity.⁴⁶⁶¹ The goal of this resolution is to ensure that women occupy leadership positions within the Matanza Riachuelo Basin Authority.⁴⁶⁶² On the same day, the Ministry of Economy’s Federal Bureau of Economic Policies with a Gender Perspective (formalized on 23 December 2020) assessed Argentina’s 2020 performance regarding gender in relation to the economy and set their goals for 2021.⁴⁶⁶³ In setting the 2021 economic gender goals, the Bureau met with specific provincial officials from Tierra del Fuego, Catamarca, San Juan, Córdoba, Entre Ríos, Río Negro, Misiones, Tucuman,

La Rioja and La Pampa individually and with officials from the remaining provinces collectively, whereof, at such meetings, the Bureau had the provinces commit to working towards policies that advance women's status in the economy.⁴⁶⁶⁴ The goal of having the provinces make these commitments is to ensure that Argentina's provincial governments work in tandem with the national government in working to advance women's status in the economy.⁴⁶⁶⁵

On 22 December 2020, the Ministry of Public Works enacted Resolution 193/2020, which implements the "Program for the Transversalization of Gender and Diversity Policies," a program which promotes equality in the public sphere to build a more just and inclusive society.⁴⁶⁶⁶ The goal of this resolution is to expand and promote women's equitable employment in the public sphere, especially in the Ministry of Public Works.⁴⁶⁶⁷

On 23 December 2020, the National Parks Administration enacted Resolution 431/2020, which created the "Advisory Committee on Gender, Equality and Diversity Policies" under the National Parks Administration.⁴⁶⁶⁸ This committee was created to advise and recommend courses of action to the National Parks Administration Board of Directors that generate public policies on issues of gender, equality, diversity and the elimination of violence.⁴⁶⁶⁹ The goal of this resolution is to expand and promote women's equitable employment in the public sphere, specifically for those women working for and/or with the National Parks Administration.⁴⁶⁷⁰

On 23 December 2020, the Ministry of Economy enacted "Resolution 704/2020," which formally established the Federal Board of Economic Policies with a Gender Perspective ("la Mesa Federal de Políticas Económicas con Perspectiva de Género") under the Ministry of Economy.⁴⁶⁷¹ The ministry created this board to promote gender equality everywhere in Argentina, to improve the technical capacities of economic decision makers (providing analysis and building a set of indicators with a gendered perspective), to promote dialogue between the National Public Administration with the provincial administrations and the Autonomous City of Buenos Aires in tackling gender-economic issues, to strengthen economic policy tools with a gender perspective and map the data collected and missing by jurisdiction (specifically on gender gaps).⁴⁶⁷² The goal is to create a government entity that can, in a focused and specialized manner, especially considering the disproportionately negative effect that the COVID-19 pandemic has had on women's economic opportunities, work towards restoring women's "access to basic rights."⁴⁶⁷³

On 1 January 2021, Argentina's 2021 National Budget came into effect and allocated ARS1.3 trillion to public policies that contribute to closing gaps in gender.⁴⁶⁷⁴ The goal of such public policies is to reduce the economic disparities between men and women.⁴⁶⁷⁵

On 6 January 2021, Resolution 4/2021 was enacted, which saw the Matanza Riachuelo Basin Authority join the "Gender and Diversity Network of the Ministry of Public Works," a joint public-sector alliance which works to achieve gender equality in the public sphere (specifically within the Ministry of Public Works).⁴⁶⁷⁶ The goal of this resolution is to expand and promote women's equitable employment in the public sphere, specifically for those women working for and/or with the Matanza Riachuelo Basin Authority.⁴⁶⁷⁷ of the economy.”⁴⁷⁵⁴ The usage of such diagnostic techniques, management tools and public policies will all work to promote women’s economic status in Argentina.⁴⁷⁵⁵

Argentina has fully complied with its commitment to remove barriers to the extent and quality of women’s participation in the labour market and economy through actions such as implementing anti-discriminatory regulations, mandating appointment procedures to consider gender parity, allocating funds to address economic disparity between men and women in annual budget and creating groups to lead and promote women’s participation in STEM fields and entrepreneurial activities.

Thus, Argentina receives a score of +1.

Australia has fully complied with its commitment to remove the barriers to women’s economic participation and entrepreneurship.

On 26 November 2020, the Australian Government launched the Women in science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM) Cadetships and Advanced Apprenticeships Program.⁴⁷⁵⁶ The program aims to “promote equality of opportunity in higher education” and provide “grants to higher education providers and employers, to improve participation of women in STEM Fields of Education.”⁴⁷⁵⁷ This includes, “[increasing] the number of women with STEM qualifications in the labour force; [helping] women to upskill in STEM or gain job relevant skills to help build a STEM career; and [developing] a pathway to produce graduates with practical workplace skills in STEM sectors vital to Australia’s future productivity.”⁴⁷⁵⁸

On 8 March 2021, the Ministry for Industry, Science and Technology announced an additional AUD11.6 million under the Boosting Female Founders Initiative. The Initiative provides grants and mentoring placements to Australian start-up businesses that are majority owned and led by women to build their businesses and expand into national and international markets, increasing the gender diversity of Australia’s start-up ecosystem.⁴⁷⁵⁹

On 8 March 2021, the Department of Education, Skills and Employment announced that it had opened applications for higher education providers to participate in the Women in STEM Cadetships

On 11 May 2021, Prime Minister Scott Morrison announced a package of almost AUD3.4 billion to support women's rights in the 2021-2022 Budget.⁴⁷⁷¹ This package includes AUD1.9 billion to support women's economic security of which AUD1.7 billion is for improving the affordability of childcare services. The allocation of the new Budget aims to increase women's workforce participation and promote women's leadership opportunities.⁴⁷⁷² Australia will also be providing AUD13.9 million over four years to establish an Early Stage Social Enterprise Foundation focused on providing capacity building and financial support for early stage social enterprises that improve the economic security of Indigenous women, particularly those who are experiencing or have experienced domestic violence. The Foundation will provide flexible loans and grants to approximately 30 Australian social enterprises each year to support Indigenous women entrepreneurs.⁴⁷⁷³

On 22 May 2021, Australia announced its commitment of AUD39.8 million for projects under the Women's Leadership and Development Program as a part of the effort to re-open, recover and reform Australia's economy.⁴⁷⁷⁴ Organizations of the program will use the funds to increase women's opportunities and support women's development in five areas: job creation, economic security, workforce participation, leadership, and safety.⁴⁷⁷⁵

On 24 May 2021, the Department of Prime Minister and Cabinet announced the grant recipients for the Women's Leadership and Development Program. This program supports projects to increase women's opportunities and women's development in six areas: job creation, economic security, workforce participation, leadership, safety, and international. Around AUD60 million over 2020-21 to 2023-24 is currently provided under the program for 75 individual projects, with a number directly focused on supporting women entrepreneurs. More information on project details can be found in the links.⁴⁷⁷⁶

On 4 June 2021, upon the results of their STEM Equity Monitor data, the Australian government announced their investment of AUD2 Million in the Women in STEM and Entrepreneurship (WiSE) program. The Australian government acknowledges that women are underrepresented in the STEM field and earn on average, less money than their male colleagues. With this investment, the WiSE grant projects will "nurture the next generation of women leaders in STEM and entrepreneurial activities."⁴⁷⁷⁷

On 25 June 2021, the MMFDH initiated the socio-economic inclusion program “Beleza Além das Fronteiras” in partnership with the Virada Feminina Movement, the International Organization for Migration and Casa Venezuela.⁴⁷⁹³ This program supports the economic independence of over 200 Venezuelan women and migrants by training them to enter the beauty market. Training includes courses on hairdressing, entrepreneurship, and interview training.⁴⁷⁹⁴

On 23 July 2021, the MMFDH, in partnership with Associação Aliança Empreendedora (AE), launched a project to provide free courses for 270,000 women in situations of social vulnerability. Themes of courses include entrepreneurship, financial education, digital marketing, crafts, and more. Women with a monthly income of up to one and a half of minimum wage are prioritized for these courses.⁴⁷⁹⁵

On 29 July 2021, the MMFDH and the National Supply Company agreed on protocols of intentions for an initiative to support women from rural communities. This initiative will offer free courses in vocational training and entrepreneurship targeted at empowering female farmers.⁴⁷⁹⁶ The initiative especially recognizes the potential of women farmers that did not attend school but lead many family farming establishments.⁴⁷⁹⁷

Brazil has fully complied with its commitment by implementing specific measures to promote women’s engagement and success in entrepreneurship through partnerships with private entities, governmental authorities and universities, as well as actions to remove barriers by implementing projects focused on expanding employment access to women.

Thus, Brazil receives a score of +1.

On 7 July 2021, Canada disclosed that the Canadian Pay Equity Act would come into effect on August 31, 2021. The aim of the Pay Equity Act is to enforce long-term regulations that will help close the gender wage gap. To achieve this goal, the act mandates that any employer with ten or more employees must create a “proactive pay equity plan” so that Canadian workplaces can become “more fair, safe and inclusive” in the future. This proactive pay equity approach is among many new regulations that the Government of Canada has added to enhance pay equity.⁴⁸¹⁸

On 20 July 2021, Canada announced that it would be providing a non-profit organization called “Réseau des Femmes d’affaires du Québec” with over CAD1 million in financial support. Since Réseau des Femmes d’affaires du Québec is an organization that helps foster growth among female-owned businesses, this funding aims to revitalize female entrepreneurship in Quebec.⁴⁸¹⁹

On 29 July 2021, Canada announced that it would be allocating CAD100 million to 237 projects under the Feminist Response and Recovery Fund. discouraged from doing so due to workforce pressure, and to minimize and eliminate discriminations towards women in the workforce.⁴⁸⁴⁶

China has partially complied with its commitment to remove barriers to the extent and quality of women's participation in the labour market and economy through actions such as multiple verbal affirmations and national projects to increase women's participation in network social governance. However, it did not implement any measures to promote women's engagement and success in entrepreneurial activities.

Plays in Reducing Gender Inequalities.”⁴⁸⁶⁷ This round table will be an opportunity to explore the key roles that the investment community has in promoting gender equality in France’s economy and society, more specifically, in the workforce and in the field of entrepreneurship.⁴⁸⁶⁸

On 7 July 2021, Minister Pannier-Runacher announced the roadmap for 2021-2022 at a meeting held by the Council for Gender Diversity in Industry. Besides extension of paternity leave, quotas in executive committees and implementation of representative organizations, the Council for Diversity in Industry has taken concrete actions in favor of more parity and equality in the workforce to encourage women entrepreneurship and engagement in all industries. For example, the IndustriElles Collective aims to make women’s talents and skills visible in all industries.⁴⁸⁶⁹ It also brings together all individuals who wish to contribute to the promotion of women in the industry. This 2021-2022 roadmap puts forward a publication, featuring an international version of the guide, to innovative good practices for gender diversity in companies in different types of industries. The roadmap also includes the need for reflection among industry players for a mixed representation of video games.⁴⁸⁷⁰ In terms of policies, more should be implemented to support engineering schools (Mines & Telecoms) with encouragement for applications from young women in industry and ensure their full success. New areas of work to improve gender diversity and professional equality in the industry include working with counselors and parents to encourage young girls to pursue careers. Executives also agreed to extending the commitments made by large companies on gender diversity, and subcontracting companies if needed, particularly those which employ women in a situation of invisibility.⁴⁸⁷¹

France has partially complied with its commitment to remove barriers to the extent and quality of women’s participation in the labour market and economy through actions such as setting anti-discriminatory standards, supporting women’s leadership in workforce and hosting international forum on gender equality. However, it did not implement any measures to promote women’s engagement and success in entrepreneurial activities.

Thus, France receives a score of 0.

On 3 January 2021, the new National Action Plan to implement the Women, Peace and Security Agenda was addressed in the Federal Cabinet with the goal of strengthening the participation of women in peace processes and strengthening the participation of women in crisis management.⁴⁸⁷³

On 6 January 2021, the federal government proposed the Second Management Positions Act – FÜPoG II. The draft law further develops and improves the Management Positions Act (FÜPoG) that came into force in 2015 by making it mandatory for certain private listed companies and public sector German businesses to include more women on their executive boards. The law came into force on 12 August 2021.⁴⁸⁷⁴

On 21 January 2021, the Federal Labour Court of Germany ruled that, the woman executive who managed a department within a public insurer in Hanover, “had earnings of EUR1,006 less per month than the median compensation, in terms of basic salaries and bonuses, of six male colleagues in comparable positions,” which was a clear indicator of gender discrimination.⁴⁸⁷⁵ “The court confirmed that the burden falls on her employer to prove that the disparity is not based on gender.”⁴⁸⁷⁶ This ruling was considered a guiding principle of the new decision on the Remuneration Transparency Act, which passed in 2017 (pay-transparency law) requiring employers to disclose male colleagues’ wages or salaries.⁴⁸⁷⁷

On 12 February 2021, the nationwide start-up agency sponsored by Germany’s Federal Ministry for Family, Senior Citizens, Women and Youth, launched a digital series about women entrepreneurs. As a campaign to encourage and support more women in managerial positions, the series is meant to inspire and educate women entrepreneurship through career guidance and promotion of women entrepreneur role models.⁴⁸⁷⁸

gender equal conditions.⁴⁸⁸⁸ Germany is considered one of the countries where women are in the head-of-state positions more frequently.⁴⁸⁸⁹

On 15 April 2021, the German Bundestag approved a draft law for the establishment of the Federal Equality Foundation. The foundation will work by showing where more gender equality is needed, networking and supporting those committed to gender equality, and by discussing gender equality with citizens. The aim of the foundation is to enable women and men to lead a self-determined life so that they can develop their potential regardless of gender.⁴⁸⁹⁰

On 22 April 2021, Chancellor Angela Merkel kicked off the 2021 Girls' Day event, sponsored by the Federal Ministry of Education and Research and the Federal Ministry for Family Affairs, Senior Citizens, Women and Youth and the Federal Ministry of Education and Research.⁴⁸⁹¹ Girls' Day is a large career orientation project for schoolgirls worldwide to educate and encourage girls within fields predominately pursued by males such as IT, crafts, natural sciences and technology.⁴⁸⁹² The event has allowed fellow girls to find apprenticeships or study courses that they didn't have that much knowledge about before; many girls participated in various workshops featuring meteorology, space travel, smart farming and software design.⁴⁸⁹³

On 28 May 2021, the law establishing "Bundesstiftung Gleichstellung", a federal foundation for gender equality, entered into force. In December 2020, German Bundestag (lower house of parliament) decided to set aside annual funds of five million euros in the federal budget for the establishment and operations of this foundation.⁴⁸⁹⁴ The foundation aims to bring more knowledge, action and innovation and will operate in three ways: firstly, it will show areas needing more equality and find solutions correspondingly; secondly, it serves as a network for supporting people committed to equality; thirdly, it discusses equality with citizens.⁴⁸⁹⁵

On 21 June 2021, the Bundesweite Gruenderinnenagentur, the National Agency for Women Start-ups Activities and Services, launched the National Day of Action which offered events nationwide to publicize and promote female corporate success and progression throughout Germany.⁴⁸⁹⁶ The goal of this initiative was to increase the number of female company successors by sharing successful entrepreneurial case studies and skills towards self-employment by provisioning expert-led events from chambers, business development agencies and management consultancies. The National Day of Action was led by the Federal Ministry for Economic Affairs and Energy and the Federal Ministry for Family, Seniors, Women and Youth.⁴⁸⁹⁷

On 30 June 2021, during the Generation Equality Forum in Paris, German Federal Chancellor Angela Merkel announced EUR140 million in fresh funding for the economic empowerment of girls and women worldwide, with a specific contribution of EUR25 million by the Government of Germany to the Women Entrepreneurs Finance Initiative (We-Fi).⁴⁸⁹⁸ We-Fi focuses on supporting female-led businesses in developing countries by enabling entrepreneurs to access financial aid and tackle the post-Covid recovery and grow their enterprises.⁴⁸⁹⁹ With improved access to robust data, technological innovation and key skills, women entrepreneurs are able to scale, digitize and optimize their businesses.⁴⁹⁰⁰ With a goal to improve equality among women as well, We-Fi will strive to direct at least 50 per cent of its resources to programs for women-led enterprises in low-income countries and conflict-affected areas.⁴⁹⁰¹

On 2 July 2021, the Government of Germany committed to working closely with the International Planned Parenthood Federation to provide universal access to sexual and reproductive health, rights and education in order to increase gender equality and peace for women globally.⁴⁹⁰² These movements will provide the right space to advance safe and inclusive measures to empower women in promoting women's rights.⁴⁹⁰³

Germany has fully complied with its commitment to remove barriers to the extent and quality of women's participation in the labour market and economy through actions such as presenting statistics about domestic status quo, issuing compensations and implementing family-friendly childcare programs. Furthermore, Germany has taken action to support women's entrepreneurship through the digital series to promote women in entrepreneurship positions.

Thus, Germany receives a score of +1.

India has partially complied with taking steps to remove the barriers to women's economic participation and entrepreneurship.

On 3 February 2021, Commerce Secretary Dr. Anup Wadhawan announced that the budget for the 2021-2022 year will include an amount of INR10,000 million for the welfare of women Tea workers and their children, particularly in Assam and West Bengal.⁴⁹⁰⁴ This will benefit approximately 623,000 women workers.⁴⁹⁰⁵

On 23 February 2021, Vice President Shri M. Venkaiah Naidu stated that though the current Lok Sabha had the historically highest number of women in parliament, namely 78, they account for only 14 per cent of the total number of people in parliament and in legislatures.⁴⁹⁰⁶ He added that creating reservations for women in parliament and legislature "needs urgent attention and consensus of all political parties."⁴⁹⁰⁷

On 7 July 2021, the Ministry of New and Renewable Energy hosted a webinar entitled "Women in Renewable Energy and Sustainability" in partnership with the International Solar Alliance.⁴⁹⁰⁸ This webinar offered the opportunity of dialogue for bringing more women to leadership positions in the renewable energy sector and creating entrepreneurial opportunities for women.⁴⁹⁰⁹

On 26 August 2021, President Mario Draghi spoke at the G20 Conference on Women’s Empowerment. President Draghi highlighted during this conference Italy’s efforts in June 2021 to reduce gender gaps in the labour force participation by 25 per cent by 2025. The president also stated that Italy has, “taken concrete measures to improve the position of women in the world of work, promote their emancipation and remove the obstacles that hamper their careers.”⁵⁰⁴⁴

Italy has partially complied with its commitment to remove barriers to the extent and quality of women’s participation in the labour market and economy through actions such as allocating funds and designing policies to promote female employment. However, it did not implement any measures to promote women’s engagement and success in entrepreneurial activities.

Thus, Italy receives a score of 0.

On 19 January 2021, MOGEF enacted the “Government support for childcare service to be expanded up to 840 hours a year/Percentage of government support to be increased 5 per cent,” which is a multi-policy program that makes childcare services more accessible and provides support to households requiring childcare services.⁵⁰⁶³ The objective of this program is to alleviate many households’ childcare burden (whereof, given that the childcare burden tends to primarily fall onto women, this program allows for many women to put more effort into involving themselves in the economy).⁵⁰⁶⁴

On 2 February 2021, MOGEF announced, through their 2021 Report on government business, “MOGEF’s Major business plan 2021,” which is a multi-action four section plan created to enhance women’s status in Korea overall.⁵⁰⁶⁵ Section one of the plan, “[Equality for All] Realizing a gender equality society,” provides three policy initiatives which all work towards improving women’s economic participation and entrepreneurship.⁵⁰⁶⁶ The first policy initiative works to promote women’s employment in stable well paying positions, especially through the payment of the “Saeil employment subsidy” (KRW800,000) to employers hiring women as regular employees (after six months).⁵⁰⁶⁷ The second policy works to fight gender-based discrimination factors in “major policies” related to education, culture, welfare and employment.⁵⁰⁶⁸ Additionally, this policy initiative enhances the effects of gender equality systems including the launch of the Gender Awareness Budget Committee.⁵⁰⁶⁹ The third policy establishes a “foothold-type gender equality center” in Busan which serves to promote gender equality culture to the public.⁵⁰⁷⁰ The goals of these three policy initiatives are to promote women’s employment and create an employment culture of gender equality.⁵⁰⁷¹

On 18 February 2021, the Gender Equality Committee of the Ministry of Gender Equality and Family finalized the “National Action Plan on UNSCR 1325,” which is a six-section plan created to improve women’s well-being, economic status and economic participation in Korea.⁵⁰⁷² Sections one to four and six are relevant to this report. and/or are actively trying to start up new businesses.⁵⁰⁸⁴ Point three helps those with childcare difficulties (mainly women) find or regain and secure job opportunities.⁵⁰⁸⁵ Point four reduces gender disparities in the workplace and enhances women's status in the labor force.⁵⁰⁸⁶ Point five strengthens government agencies that aid women in pursuing and securing good employment opportunities.⁵⁰⁸⁷ The goal of this program is to make the economy more equitable for women and, especially considering the disproportionately negative effect that COVID-19 has had on women's economic opportunities, help those women who have faced (and continue to face) employment difficulties due to COVID-19 return to work.⁵⁰⁸⁸

On 25 March 2021, the Budget Office, Budget Policy Division of the Ministry of Economy and Finance, put into law the aforementioned additions to Korea's 2021 Budget.⁵⁰⁸⁹

On 26 April 2021, MOGEF enacted "2025 Families Shoulder To Shoulder," which is a multi-point multi-year plan to improve the well-being of families and women in Korea.⁵⁰⁹⁰ This plan includes within it many initiatives which, although they are not explicitly designated as programs which improve the economic status of women in Korea, end up consequently improving the economic status of women in Korea. These initiatives include combatting discriminatory expressions in government publications (creating a more equitable socio-economic climate for women which does force them into the role of homemaker), "lowering the bar concerning the age bracket (from 24 to 34) eligible for additional childcare expense paid to single-parent families" (dominated by women, providing women with a greater amount of financial support, thus increasing women's economic opportunities), expanding childcare support services for single-parent families "with low income, disabled parents/children, etc." (dominated by women, relieving many economically marginalized women of some childcare pressures, thus increasing their overall economic opportunities) and expanding maternity leave eligibility "from wage earners to all workers" (expanding economic support for women who were previously ineligible for maternity leave).⁵⁰⁹¹ The goal of this program is to relieve families, especially single-parent families (which are dominated by women), of many of the challenges they currently face, especially in relation to childcare (which are, at their core, economic issues).⁵⁰⁹²

On 28 April 2021, the MOGEF, jointly with the Embassy of Finland in Seoul, held a panel discussion on the enhancement of gender equality in the technical field.⁵⁰⁹³ At this panel, Minister Chung Young-ai vowed that the Ministry will “strive to work together with the international community regarding the need for better gender equality in daily life, which can be achieved through technological innovation where gender awareness is reflected.”⁵⁰⁹⁴ The purpose of this panel was to see how the governments of both Korea and Finland could work to enhance the economic opportunities that women have in the technical field.⁵⁰⁹⁵

On 8 June 2021, the MOGEF enacted “Strengthening non-custodial parent’s child support enforcement responsibility; expansion of child support for one-parent families,” which is a multi-point plan to legally aid those individuals in need of child support (mainly single-mothers) through improving child support enforcement procedures, imposing stronger restrictions of default on child support obligations and expanding support for emergency assistance for temporary child support and child support-related assistance.⁵⁰⁹⁶ The goal of this plan is to provide additional support to those individuals in need of child support, mainly women and children (improving women’s economic opportunities by extension in that increased child support means increased economic freedom for many single-mothers).⁵⁰⁹⁷

On 23 June 2021, the MOGEF signed a Memorandum of Understanding with the UN to establish the “UN Women Centre of Excellence for Gender Equality.”⁵⁰⁹⁸ This centre will serve to “achieve the common objectives of enhancing gender equality including protection of women’s human rights and strengthening of women’s capability” (including in the economic arena).⁵⁰⁹⁹

On 1 July 2021, the Budget Office, Budget Policy Division of the Ministry of Economy and Finance, formalized its second round of additions to Korea’s 2021 Budget.⁵¹⁰⁰ Among these additions was

KRW2.1 trillion allocated to support “disabled, teen parents and people with bad credit”.⁵¹⁰¹ The goal of this addition is to, among other goals, financially support teen parents (many of whom are women), thus providing them with more economic opportunities in general.⁵¹⁰²

On 6 July 2021, the MOGEF amended the Sexual Violence Prevention Act (set to take force on 13 July 2021) to include a section which obligates individuals to inform the MOGEF of a sexual violence case in the public sector “immediately” (with there being penalties for failing to do so).⁵¹⁰³ The Ministry created this amendment to try to root out sexual violence within the public sector, thus allowing for an environment where individuals marginalized by sexual violence (mainly women) do not feel a risk (allowing for them to pursue more opportunities within the public sector).⁵¹⁰⁴

On 6 July 2021, the MOGEF amended the Enforcement Decree of the Act on Enforcing and Supporting Child Support Payment to include new punishments for those individuals who willfully default on their child support obligations (including, but not limited to, the suspension of defaulters drivers licences).⁵¹⁰⁵ The Ministry created this amendment to try to further disincentivize individuals from defaulting on their child support obligations, meaning that those individuals who are entitled to child support (mainly women) are more likely to receive that support (improving women’s economic opportunities by extension in that a reliable stream of child support means increased economic freedom for many single-mothers).⁵¹⁰⁶

On 9 July 2021, the Ministry of Economy and Finance published its Economic Policies for the H2 2021.⁵¹⁰⁷ Within this document, the Ministry declared that it will “Seek Inclusive Recovery” and “work to narrow gaps in income, education and childcare.”⁵¹⁰⁸ Narrowing this gap of income, education and childcare between men and women will provide women with more economic opportunities by increasing women’s income and education, and by balancing out childcare obligations between men and women.⁵¹⁰⁹

On 26 July 2021, the Ministry of Economy and Finance enacted their 2021 Tax Revision Bill.⁵¹¹⁰ Within this bill, the Ministry declares that it will “pursue inclusive growth” through measures such as easing the requirement for a tax reduction of up to 30 per cent of labour costs given to companies hiring women who seek reemployment.⁵¹¹¹ Such tax initiatives which economically benefit women will improve womens’ overall economic prospects in Korea.⁵¹¹²

On 28 July 2021, the 3rd Population Policy Taskforce released their third assignment which will work to “prepare for the country’s demographic challenges.”⁵¹¹³ More specifically, they declared their primary goal to be “finding ways to increase women’s participation in the labour market.⁵¹¹⁴ The 3rd population policy taskforce seeks to do this through measures such as increasing social security benefits for single-person households and creating work environments “in which women keep jobs and at the same time [are able to] take care of their families [if needed].”⁵¹¹⁵ Such measures aim to increase womens’ participation in the labour market, thus increasing their economic autonomy overall.⁵¹¹⁶

On 31 August 2021, the Ministry of Economy and Finance proposed their 2022 Budget.⁵¹¹⁷ Among other programs, this budget proposes that internship opportunities be offered to as many as 8000 women seeking reemployment.⁵¹¹⁸ Such a program would provide those reemployed women with an opportunity to improve their economic status in society.⁵¹¹⁹

Korea has partially complied with its commitment to remove barriers to the extent and quality of women’s participation in the labour market and economy through actions such as allocating funds in the annual budget and implementing family-friendly childcare programs. Furthermore, Korea has invested in programs that support women trying to start their own businesses.

Thus, Korea receives a score of +1.

On 28 April 2021, Mexico and the Inter-American Development Bank held a virtual meeting of businesswomen of the Pacific Alliance.⁵¹³⁹ The meeting consisted of discussions about the effects of the COVID-19 pandemic on businesswomen and recognize and overcome the barrier to the autonomy and empowerment of female businesses.⁵¹⁴⁰ Over 200 people including businesswomen and policy makers attended the panel-based discussion.⁵¹⁴¹

On 23 June 2021, Mexico reaffirmed its commitment to women's empowerment at a webinar on the local economic empowerment of women in the Pacific Alliance on Gender Equality.⁵¹⁴² The forum was held by the Foreign and Economy Ministries, the National Institute for Women (INMUJERES), and the Mexican Association of Economic Development Secretaries.⁵¹⁴³ During the event, the Foreign Ministry's director-general of Political Affairs Ximena Escodo said that "eliminating gender inequality by 2030 is the main challenge" and called to local governments to aid in reducing gender inequality.⁵¹⁴⁴

On 15 July 2021, Mexico adopted the UN High-level Political Forum on Sustainable Development Ministerial Declaration.⁵¹⁴⁵ The amendments in the declaration include calls to a gender-focused response to COVID-19, such as "the leadership and full, effective and equal participation of women in decision-making."⁵¹⁴⁶

On 26 August 2021, INMUJERES held a meeting of "governors, federal and local deputies, municipal presidents and mayors elected in 2021" with the purpose of creating an agenda with concrete commitments to "close inequality gaps."⁵¹⁴⁷ The agenda included the promotion of "effective and equal" female participation in decision making across the political, social, community and private spheres; and the provision of tools to promote women's economic independence.⁵¹⁴⁸

On 7 September 2021, the Supreme Court struck down a law from the State of Coahuila which punished those who performed and received abortions with one to three years of prison.⁵¹⁴⁹ The ruling was unanimous and resulted in the declaration that the criminalization of abortion would be unconstitutional.⁵¹⁵⁰

On 13 September 2021, Mexico included the “gender perspective” in the income policy of the Economic Package 2022 and made an investment of more than MXN232 billion in Annex 13 “Expenditures for Equality between Women and Men.”⁵¹⁵¹ In total, the expenditures for equality include 12 priority programs of the Government of the Fourth Transformation and 21 strategic programs to promote gender equality and women's human rights.⁵¹⁵² These programs include initiatives to support for the well-being of the children of working mothers.⁵¹⁵³ The 2022 Economic Package also refers to the financial inclusion of women through financial programs, the promotion of women’s employment as a central and strategic element for the growth and productivity of the country.⁵¹⁵⁴

Mexico has fully complied with its commitment to remove barriers to the extent and quality of women’s participation in the labour market and economy through actions such as hosting international virtual conferences and providing financial support. Furthermore, Mexico supported women’s entrepreneurship through the Credit to the World program.

Thus, Mexico receives a score of +1.

Turkey has fully complied with its commitment to remove barriers to women's economic participation and entrepreneurship.

On 21 December 2020, the Mothers at Work Project for women's employment launched by the Turkish Government Employment Agency began to expand its scope. The program initially focused on providing vocational training courses and programs for disadvantaged women who either cannot work as a result of having to stay home and care for their kids, those relying on social benefits or those exposed to domestic violence. However, the government hopes to raise the women's employment rate in Turkey further with new incentives such as financial support for women's cooperatives and interest rate free loans for female entrepreneurs.⁵¹⁹⁵ Maternity leave for working women has also been increased along with increased financial support for child-caring women.⁵¹⁹⁶

On 8 March 2021, President Recep Tayyip Erdogan, announced at his AKP Women Branch's General Convention that the government will be creating a new commission at the parliament to tackle the violence against women.⁵¹⁹⁷ Efforts will be launched in every legal and social field to empower women, raise awareness and mitigate any widening of gender inequalities.⁵¹⁹⁸

On 19 April 2021, Minister of National Education Ziya Selçuk announced a new initiative to help increase women employment by training 8,000 individuals.⁵¹⁹⁹ This initiative will train women on establishing cooperatives and provide training to women and men already involved in cooperatives.⁵²⁰⁰ This initiative will also establish a consultant pool and provide consultancy service training for 1,000 women.⁵²⁰¹ barriers that women face in economic participation and serves as a stepping point for the European “Commission’s proposal for a Directive on adequate minimum wages in the European Union.”⁵³⁰⁹

On 11 February 2021, the European Parliament adopted a resolution related “to assess the progress made in women’s rights over the last 25 years.”⁵³¹⁰ The Members of Parliament called on the European Commission to take on more actions to address the barriers that women face, which includes addressing women’s participation and decreasing the gender pay gap.⁵³¹¹

On 21 February 2021, representatives from the European Commission attended an online meeting alongside 56 representatives from Argentina, Russia, Belgium, Canada, France, Hungary, Italy, Japan, Korea, Romania, Slovenia, the United Kingdom, the United States, the International Atomic Energy Agency, and the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development to discuss increasing the number of women in the nuclear power industry.⁵³¹²

On 4 March 2021, the European Commission put forward a proposal to increase pay transparency to address the gender pay gap.⁵³¹³ This proposal includes “measures to ensure pay transparency for workers and employers” and “better access to justice for victims of pay discrimination.”⁵³¹⁴ The measures in the proposal include increasing transparency for jobseekers and employees. The proposal also requires employers with over 250 employees to “publish information on the pay gap between female and male workers in their organization” and conduct a “pay assessment” if their pay gap is over 5 per cent.⁵³¹⁵ The proposal also seeks “better access” to “compensation for workers,” increased “burden of proof on employer” to disprove pay discrimination, “sanctions to include fines” and action by “equality bodies and workers’ representatives” in “legal or administrative proceedings on behalf of workers as well as lead on collective claims on equal pay.”⁵³¹⁶

On 5 March 2021, the European Commission published the 2021 Report on Gender Equality in the EU.⁵³¹⁷ This report emphasizes that the COVID-19 pandemic has “exacerbated existing inequalities between women and men in almost all areas of life.”⁵³¹⁸ It highlights that the major struggles to achieving gender equality during the pandemic was “a surge in domestic violence,” increased “workload, health risk and challenges to work-life balance” as frontline workers are mostly female and a disproportionate loss of jobs to women as they were “overrepresented in sectors that are worst affected by the crisis.”⁵³¹⁹ Furthermore, the report also brings to light that women have had a decrease in work-life balance due to an increase in duties such as childrearing and housework as well as face a lack of representation in “COVID-19 decision-making bodies.”⁵³²⁰ In response to the findings in the report, the European Commission’s Joint Research Centre and the European Institute for Gender Equality created the Gender Equality Strategy Monitoring Portal which tracks Member States’ actions to promote gender equality.⁵³²¹

On 8 March 2021, the European Committee of the Regions (CoR) hosted a virtual conference to discuss actions that leaders can take to increase women’s participation in politics.⁵³²² Attendees of the conference were the “President and the Members of the CoR, Members of the European Parliament and participants in the CoR’s Young Elected Politicians Programme.”⁵³²³ In the conference, it was highlighted that women made up less than a third of roughly one million local and regional politicians.⁵³²⁴ Attendees of the conference emphasized the need to increase women’s participation in politics and urged members all governmental levels to take action to decrease women’s participation gap, respond to violent attacks made against women in politics and speak out against sexism against women.⁵³²⁵ Furthermore, the European Commission announced that they will be supporting women in “deep tech” as part of their “Women TechEU” initiative.⁵³²⁶ The initiative seeks to encourage female participation in “deep tech start-ups in Europe and help grow their companies” by offering “coaching and mentoring to female CEOs and founders, as well as targeted funding.”⁵³²⁷ Commissioner for Innovation, Research, Culture, Education and Youth Mariya Gabriel called for mentors for this initiative. It will take place on 23 to 24 June 2021 and support “up to 50 deep tech start-ups from EU Member States and Associated Countries.”⁵³²⁸

On 15 March 2021, the European Commission adopted Horizon Europe's Strategic Plan.⁵³²⁹ Horizon Europe seeks to promote research and innovation and is set to cost EUR95.5 billion.⁵³³⁰ It seeks to address “eight horizontal topics,” of which “gender equality and inclusiveness” is one.⁵³³¹ This includes women empowerment in entrepreneurship, for instance through its plan to include at least 40 per cent of companies led by women to put forward their proposals.⁵³³²

On 13 April 2021, the Council of Europe Committee of the Parties to the Istanbul Convention held a meeting. In this meeting, it adopted a framework to oversee the recommendations undertaken by different states.⁵³³³ In this meeting, Secretary General of the Council of Europe Marija Pejčinović Burić expressed regret that Turkey withdrew from the Istanbul Convention on 22 March 2021 and affirmed the European Union's commitment to the convention.⁵³³⁴ This meeting serves as a step towards the removal of women's barriers to economic participation an entrepreneurship as it seeks to defend women from gender-based violence and domestic violence.

On 19 April 2021, the Committee on Women's Rights and Gender Equality held a public hearing entitled “Empowering EU supports for women entrepreneurs and investors, including through [Multiannual Financial Framework] 2021-2027.”⁵³³⁵ The hearing emphasized that encouraging women to pursue entrepreneurship is key for European economic recovery.⁵³³⁶ The hearing also discussed about using the Multiannual Financial Framework for 2021-2027 to support woman-led companies.⁵³³⁷

On 14 to 15 April 2021, the Gender Equality Commission held a meeting to discuss the draft of the 2020 annual report for the Gender Equality Strategy.⁵³³⁸ In this meeting, the Gender Equality

Commission spoke about progress made under its six objectives to achieve gender equality.⁵³³⁹ These objectives are to “Prevent and combat gender stereotypes and sexism,” “Prevent and combat violence against women and domestic violence,” “Ensure the equal access of women to justice,” “Protect the rights of migrant, refugee and asylum-seeking women and girls” and “Achieve gender mainstreaming in all policies and measures,” which include measures to achieve gender equality in economic participation.⁵³⁴⁰

On 22 April 2021, the Committee on Women’s Rights and Gender Equality held a meeting to vote on the draft report for “Promoting gender equality in science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM) education and careers.”⁵³⁴¹ The draft discusses the lack of female participation in the STEM field and calls on the “removal of all barriers.”⁵³⁴² The vote resulted in the adoption of the draft report, which is a step towards removing barriers for women’s economic participation in STEM.⁵³⁴³ Furthermore, the Committee on Employment and Social Affairs and the Committee on Women’s Rights and Gender Equality held a joint hearing to discuss the European Commission’s proposal for pay transparency.⁵³⁴⁴ The hearing is a step towards the removal of barriers to women’s economic participation, as lack of pay transparency is a main barrier that women face.⁵³⁴⁵ Moreover, the Gender Mainstreaming Network held a meeting to discuss gender mainstreaming practices by committees and delegations in the European Parliament, which is a form of women’s economic empowerment.⁵³⁴⁶

On 23 April 2021, the European Institute for Gender Equality signed a partnership agreement with the European University Institute.⁵³⁴⁷ Under this partnership, they will work together on “research initiatives, events and training activities” concerning “women’s rights, gender equality and balanced participation by women and men in society,” which includes women’s economic participation.⁵³⁴⁸

On 26 April, the Council of Europe announced that the Gender Equality Division and the Violence against Women Division will be hosting an online public conference to celebrate the 10th anniversary of the Istanbul Convention on 11 May 2021.⁵³⁴⁹ The conference will “reaffirm the political will of states parties to fully implement the Convention.”⁵³⁵⁰ The Council of Europe will also present its plan to stop sexism through its campaign entitled “Sexism: See it. Name it. Stop it!”⁵³⁵¹ This conference is an attempt to reduce barriers to women’s economic participation by verbally confirming the European Union’s commitment to preventing violence against women and sexism.⁵³⁵²

On 28 April 2021, the European Parliament announced that the Committee on Women’s Rights and Equality will hold a meeting on 10 May 2021.⁵³⁵³ This meeting seeks to address different views on the “draft opinion to the Proposal for a directive on adequate minimum wages in the European Union.”⁵³⁵⁴ The draft opinion discusses how minimum wage can be used to reduce pay gaps for women and men and hence can be used as a form of women empowerment in economic participation.⁵³⁵⁵

On 11 May 2021, the Council of Europe held an online conference marking the 10th anniversary of the Istanbul Convention. During the online conference, member states affirmed their continuing commitment to the Istanbul Convention which seeks to protect women from gender-based and domestic violence.⁵³⁵⁶ The conference also discussed the implementation of the Council of Europe’s new campaign entitled “Sexism: See it. Name it. Stop it!”⁵³⁵⁷ This meeting is an advancement to the European Union’s commitment to women’s economic participation as it seeks to stop violence and sexism, which are two barriers to women’s economic participation.⁵³⁵⁸

On 10 September 2021, the EU pledged to invest USD8.5 million until December 2022 to the Spotlight Initiative, which aims to end violence against women and girls.⁵³⁵⁹ The investment will be used by the Government of Mozambique to fund interventions addressing violence against women and girls in Gaza, Manica and Nampula Provinces of Mozambique.⁵³⁶⁰ These interventions will include investment in longer-term recovery services and economic opportunities for women and girls experiencing violence.⁵³⁶¹

The European Union has fully complied with its commitment to remove barriers to the extent and quality of women's participation in the labour market and economy through actions such as designing policies to address gender pay gap and reaffirm political wills to sexist languages. It has also promoted women's engagement and success in entrepreneurial activities by coaching and mentoring female entrepreneurs and providing them with financial support.

Thus, the European Union has received a score of +1.

Background

In April 2020, the G20 approved the Debt Service Suspension Initiative (DSSI) to provide economic relief to low-income countries during the economic downturn associated with the COVID-19 pandemic. The DSSI offers “a temporary suspension of...government-to-government debt payments to 73 countries.”⁵³⁶² On 21 November 2020, at the Riyadh Summit, G20 leaders granted an extension to the DSSI until June 2021. Governments receiving DSSI relief are obligated to redirect funds previously allocated to debt repayment toward their response to the COVID-19 pandemic.⁵³⁶³

Although the DSSI is a new initiative, G20 leaders have long been concerned with high debt levels. At the 2009 London Summit, G20 leaders committed to meet Millennium Development Goals related to debt relief, and “to review the flexibility of the Debt Sustainability Framework.”⁵³⁶⁴ At the

2009 Pittsburgh Summit, G20 leaders reaffirmed these commitments.⁵³⁶⁵ G20 leaders also called for Finance Ministers to assess whether their patterns of debt are conducive to economic growth.⁵³⁶⁶

At the 2010 Toronto Summit, G20 leaders pledged to “halve deficits by 2013 and stabilize or reduce government debt-to-GDP [gross domestic product] ratios by 2016.”⁵³⁶⁷ G20 leaders expressed support for the cancellation of all Haitian debt following the 2010 Haiti earthquake, and concern over rising debt levels following the 2007-2008 global financial crisis. G20 leaders also committed to implement fiscal stimulus and consolidation plans in response to rising debt levels.⁵³⁶⁸ At the 2011 Cannes Summit, G20 leaders expressed support for the response of European leaders to the Greek government-debt crisis.⁵³⁶⁹

At the 2013 St. Petersburg Summit, G20 leaders emphasized the need to put “debt as a share of GDP on a sustainable path.”⁵³⁷⁰ Every G20 summit from 2013 onwards has included this commitment. At the 2013 St. Petersburg Summit, G20 leaders also expressed support for the review of the International Monetary Fund (IMF) and World Bank’s “Guidelines for Public Debt Management” and the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development’s (OECD) interim report on public debt management, and for the IMF-World Bank Debt Sustainability Framework for low-income countries.⁵³⁷¹ They emphasized the need for continued consultation with low-income countries regarding debt management.⁵³⁷²

At the 2014 Brisbane Summit, G20 leaders expressed support for progress made towards sovereign debt restructuring, including “international work on strengthened collective action and pari passu clauses.”⁵³⁷³ At the 2015 Antalya Summit, G20 leaders expressed support for the Paris Forum Initiative to promote further cooperation between debtor and creditor governments.⁵³⁷⁴ At the 2016 Hangzhou summit, G20 leaders expressed support for the incorporation of “enhanced contractual clauses into sovereign bonds.”⁵³⁷⁵ At the 2018 Buenos Aires Summit and 2019 Osaka Summit, G20

Commitment Features

In the G20 Riyadh Summit Leaders’ Declaration adopted on 21 November 2020, G20 leaders committed to “implementing the Debt Service Suspension Initiative (DSSI) including its extension through June 2021, allowing DSSI-eligible countries to suspend official bilateral debt service payments.”⁵³⁷⁸ This declaration was made to address forthcoming economic depression as a result of COVID-19, with an estimated additional 100 million people facing extreme poverty.⁵³⁷⁹

This commitment features a politically binding statement as the G20 members use the word “commit.”⁵³⁸⁰ This refers to a binding obligation to change “member behaviour” specifically on allowing bilateral debt suspension as outlined in the DSSI through until June 2021.⁵³⁸¹ “Implement” refers to “taking steps forward. While the commitment may be a part of a longer-term initiative and actions on it may continue into the prolonged future, steps need to be taken in the near future to be considered implementation. This should not, therefore, be interpreted to mean only prolonged or delayed action.”⁵³⁸²

“Debt Service Suspension Initiative” refers to the G20 program pushed by the World Bank and IMF to assist developing countries on mobilizing their resources towards fighting COVID-19, safeguarding their population.⁵³⁸³ Currently, 73 countries are eligible for a debt suspension payment.⁵³⁸⁴ Since 13 November 2020, over USD5.7 billion has been delivered to 46 eligible countries.⁵³⁸⁵

“Bilateral” refers to lending by sovereign governments and public institutions in which the government holds a 50 per cent share.⁵³⁸⁶ This extends to “general government, central government; state and local government; central bank; and public enterprise.”⁵³⁸⁷

The G20 Leaders’ Declaration and World Bank Debtor Reporting System (DRS) and International Debt Statistics definitions and classifications emphasized several factors needed for successful DSSI policy. First, they state the need for “disclosure” and “transparency” of public sector financial commitments and in efforts made by borrowers, creditors, both official and private.⁵³⁸⁸ G20 leaders urged participation from private creditors to engage with eligible countries’ requests.⁵³⁸⁹ G20 leaders also called on multilateral development banks to continue in their collective efforts in supporting DSSI by supporting eligible countries with debt suspensions and potential extension periods.⁵³⁹⁰ G20 finance ministers and central bank governors pledged to revisit the debt suspension question in May 2021 to see if another six months of the program is necessary.⁵³⁹¹ Beyond the Leaders’ Declaration, the World Bank emphasized the need to specifically use newfound resources to “increase social, health, and economic spending” in response to the COVID-19 crisis.⁵³⁹² Finally, the World Bank committed that countries taking part in DSSI should take steps towards limiting non-concessional borrowing.⁵³⁹³

The two pillars of the initiative as outlined in DSSI “COVID 19: Debt Service Suspension Initiative” are: 1) “commit to disclose all public sector financial commitments” and 2) “commit to limit non-concessional borrowing to levels agreed under IMF programs and the World Bank’s non-concessional borrowing policies.”⁵³⁹⁴

Actions counting towards compliance include actions which meet the standards for either of the two pillars. For the first pillar, this includes a disclosing of all public sector financial commitments. Hence, the G20, World Bank Group, and IMF should gain access to any actions taken by G20 members towards DSSI. Examples include publishing government reports of who, when, and what took place with any specific DSSI eligible claim. For the second pillar, this includes limiting non-concessional borrowing. As outlined by the OECD, concessional borrowing or loans refers to “loans that are extended on terms substantially more generous than market loans. The concessionality is achieved either through interest rates below those available on the market or by grace periods, or a combination of these. Concessional loans typically have long grace periods.”⁵³⁹⁵ Examples of G20 members acting within the framework of “limiting non-concessional loans” refers to pursuing loans at rates under the general market or allowing borrowers grace periods for repayment. Therefore, G20 members who actively loan out funds at a rate non discernible towards COVID-19 relief do not meet this commitment.

To achieve full compliance, the G20 member must take strong actions to implement the DSSI as outlined by the two pillars of the COVID-19 DSSI: “commit to disclose all public sector financial commitments” and “commit to limit non-concessional borrowing to levels agreed under IMF programs and the World Bank’s non-concessional borrowing policies.” Furthermore, a G20 member may only receive a score of +1 if they are committed to implementing the DSSI through June 2021. If a G20 member does not continue its commitment on implementing the DSSI past June 2021 or does not take steps to do so, for example through making statements urging World Bank members to extend past June 2021, it would be considered partial compliance. If a G20 member takes partial action on both pillars of the DSSI but takes steps to ensure its extension or implementation past June 2021, it would still be considered full compliance.

If a G20 member takes strong action on one of the two pillars they will be awarded partial compliance and score of 0. If a G20 member takes partial action on only one pillar but takes steps to ensure its extension or implementation past June 2021, it would be considered partial compliance. Non-compliance, or a score of -1, will be given to G20 members who fail to demonstrate their commitment to implement the DSSI, meeting none of the two pillars outlined in the initiative, or taking some action on only one.

Less than strong, or some actions, include verbal reaffirmation of the commitment, making statements on future actions, attending a meeting on the DSSI with no evidence of the members’ individual position. For strong action, members can disclose public sector financial commitments, such as publishing reports, and limiting non-concessional borrowing through policy changes, etc. Furthermore, the first pillar of this commitment requires the G20 member to take individual actions on their own public sector financial commitments. However, the second pillar on limiting non-concessional borrowing could be undertaken either individually or by working with other countries, private sector creditors or international organizations.

|----|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| -1 | G20 member has NOT taken any steps towards disclosing public sector financial commitments under the Debt Service Suspension Initiative (DSSI) OR taken steps to limit non-concessional borrowing. |
| 0 | G20 member has either taken steps to disclosing public sector financial commitments under DSSI OR has taken steps towards limiting non-concessional borrowing through June 2021. |
| +1 | G20 member has BOTH taken steps towards disclosing public sector financial commitments under DSSI AND has taken steps towards limiting non-concessional borrowing through June 2021. |

Argentina: 0

Argentina has partially complied with its commitment to implement the Debt Service Suspension Initiative (DSSI) including its extension through June 2021, allowing DSSI-eligible countries to suspend official bilateral debt service payments.

On 7 April 2021, Argentina joined the Second G20 Finance Ministers and Central Bank Governors meeting, where attendees agreed to extend the DSSI by six months to the end of December 2021.⁵³⁹⁶ In addition, G20 officials called on the IMF to prepare for a “new Special Drawing Rights general allocation of USD650 billion to meet the long term global need to supplement reserve assets.”⁵³⁹⁷ Attendees aimed to offer maximal fiscal space and liquidity for the most economically vulnerable countries during the COVID-19 pandemic.⁵³⁹⁸

On 7 April 2021, Argentina and Mexico issued a joint statement calling for international debt relief for middle-income countries.⁵³⁹⁹ Argentina and Mexico proposed the creation of an international fund to facilitate a more orderly debt restructuring process for middle-income countries.⁵⁴⁰⁰

On 7 April 2021, Minister of Economy Martín Guzmán argued for proportional “reallocation of new Special Drawing Rights (SDRs)...to all developing countries, including middle-income countries” at the 2nd Finance Ministers and Central Bank Governors Meeting.⁵⁴⁰¹ Minister Guzmán also called for a review of the IMF’s access limits and interest rate surcharge policies.⁵⁴⁰²

On 9 April 2021, Minister of Economy Martín Guzmán met virtually with the International Monetary Fund Managing Director Kristalina Georgieva and finance ministers from Latin America, the US and Canada, and reiterated his calls for the reallocation of SDRs to middle-income and low-income countries.⁵⁴⁰³

On 4 May 2021, the Social Economic Council of Argentina expressed its support to extend the DSSI.⁵⁴⁰⁴ The Council also encouraged the government to express its support for the implementation of a new Common Framework for Debt Treatment at the G20 to address debt relief.⁵⁴⁰⁵

On 29 June 2021, Argentina joined the G20 Development Ministers Meeting to reaffirm its commitment to immediate liquidity needs and tackling debt vulnerabilities in developing countries through the DSSI.⁵⁴⁰⁶

On 9 and 10 July 2021, Argentina joined the third meeting of the G20 Finance Ministers and Central Bank Governors, where attending countries welcomed the progress achieved under the DSSI and reiterated their commitment to implementing the Common Framework for Debt Treatment beyond the DSSI.⁵⁴⁰⁷ The attending countries also welcomed the establishment of the creditor committee for Chad and called to address the debt treatment of Ethiopia.⁵⁴⁰⁸

Argentina has taken partial action toward limiting non-concessional borrowing through its calls for extension of debt suspension periods and for reform of the debt restructuring process and reallocation of SDRs to middle-income and low-income countries. However, Argentina has not taken action to disclose public sector financial commitments under DSSI.

Thus, Argentina has received a score of 0.

Germany has fully complied with its commitment to implement the Debt Service Suspension Initiative (DSSI) including its extension through June 2021, allowing DSSI-eligible countries to suspend official bilateral debt service payments.

On 1 December 2020, Minister of Economic Cooperation and Development Gerd Müller and Moroccan Minister of Foreign Affairs Nasser Bourita concluded negotiations in which Germany committed EUR1.39 billion in aid to Morocco.⁵⁵⁶⁵ These funds are earmarked for bank loans to local entrepreneurs, financial reforms, investment in renewable energies, and a COVID-19 relief fund.⁵⁵⁶⁶

On 7 December 2020, the Paris Club signed memorandums of understanding with 36 of 38 DSSI-eligible countries committing to implementing the DSSI by Paris Club creditors.⁵⁵⁶⁷ As a permanent creditor of the Paris Club, Germany is involved in ensuring implementation of DSSI. Under the DSSI, the Paris Club agreed to defer USD2.5 billion in loans.⁵⁵⁶⁸

On 22 December 2020, the Federal Foreign Office announced an allocation of EUR3.49 billion to safeguard peace and stability (including support provided to the United Nations).⁵⁵⁶⁹ The largest item in this part of the budget is humanitarian aid at EUR2.11 billion; crisis prevention and stabilization at EUR434 million; and the Stability Pact for Afghanistan at EUR170 million.⁵⁵⁷⁰ Humanitarian assistance now accounts for a third of the Federal Foreign Office's budget as part of Germany's response to various regional crises abroad and the COVID-19 pandemic.⁵⁵⁷¹

On 4 January 2021, Germany, as a member of the Paris Club, recognized that Côte d'Ivoire is eligible to receive the extension of time-bound suspension of debt service due from 1 January to 30 June 2021.⁵⁵⁷² Germany, France, Japan and the United States are the Paris Club creditors participating in the reorganization of Côte d'Ivoire's debt.⁵⁵⁷³ This initiative aims to improve Côte d'Ivoire's debt transparency and debt management while also mitigating the health, economic and social impact of the COVID-19 pandemic.

Indonesia has partially complied with its commitment to implement the Debt Service Suspension Initiative (DSSI) including its extension through June 2021, allowing DSSI-eligible countries to suspend official bilateral debt service payments.

On 7 April 2021, Indonesia joined the Second G20 Finance Ministers and Central Bank Governors meeting, where attendees agreed to extend the DSSI by six months to the end of December 2021.⁵⁶¹³ In addition, G20 officials called on the International Monetary Fund to prepare for a “new Special Drawing Rights general allocation of USD650 billion to meet the long term global need to supplement reserve assets.”⁵⁶¹⁴ Attendees aimed to offer maximal fiscal space and liquidity for the most economically vulnerable countries during the COVID-19 pandemic.⁵⁶¹⁵

On 29 June 2021, Indonesia joined the G20 Development Ministers Meeting to reaffirm its commitment to immediate liquidity needs and tackling debt vulnerabilities in developing countries through the DSSI.⁵⁶¹⁶

On 9 and 10 July 2021, Indonesia joined the third meeting of the G20 Finance Ministers and Central Bank Governors, where attending countries welcomed the progress achieved under the DSSI and reiterated their commitment to implementing the Common Framework for Debt Treatment beyond the DSSI.⁵⁶¹⁷ The attending countries also welcomed the establishment of the creditor committee for Chad and called to address the debt treatment of Ethiopia.⁵⁶¹⁸

Indonesia has taken steps to limit non-concessional borrowing but has not taken any steps towards disclosing public sector financial commitments under DSSI.

Thus, Indonesia receives a score of 0.

European Union: +1

The European Union has fully complied with its commitment to maintain a quota-based and adequately resourced International Monetary Fund (IMF) in line with the Debt Service Suspension Initiative (DSSI), public sector financial commitments self-disclosure and the limiting of non-concessional borrowing.

As of 23 November 2020, the European Union has committed to contributing EUR183 million to the IMF's Catastrophe Containment and Relief Trust (CCRT) for debt relief in 29 lower-income countries.⁵⁸⁹³ European Commission President Ursula von der Leyen reaffirmed the European Union's commitment in the proposal of a Global Recovery Initiative, which President von der Leyen pledged will "link investments and debt relief to the Sustainable Development Goals" in further endorsement of a Common Framework on Debt Treatments beyond the DSSI.⁵⁸⁹⁴

On 5 April 2021, the European Union contributed EUR170 million to the International Monetary Fund's (IMF'S) CCRT as the first instalment of its EUR183 initial commitment,⁵⁸⁹⁵ which was approved by the IMF's Executive Board.⁵⁸⁹⁶ European Commissioner for International Partnerships Jutta Urpilainen indicated: "Through this contribution to the CCRT, Team Europe continues to stand in solidarity with its most vulnerable partners. In this difficult period, the resources freed up can provide social services for the most vulnerable people, such as access to essential healthcare and education for young people, including girls."⁵⁸⁹⁷ European Commissioner for Economy Paolo

Background

Health crises in developing and least developed countries and their social and economic effects became a concern for the G20 leaders in 2014 because of the Ebola outbreak. In Brisbane they issued a statement on Ebola.⁵⁹⁰⁵ G20 members committed to do what is necessary to ensure the international effort can extinguish the outbreak and address its medium-term economic and humanitarian costs. They promised to work through bilateral, regional and multilateral channels, and in partnership with non-governmental stakeholders and share experiences of successfully fighting Ebola with partners, including to promote safe conditions and training for health care and relief workers. G20 leaders committed to work to expedite the effective and targeted disbursement of funds and other assistance, balancing between emergency and longer-term needs. They also committed to support others to implement the World Health Organization’s (WHO) International Health Regulations and to build capacity to prevent, detect, report early and rapidly respond to infectious diseases such as Ebola. We also commit to fight anti-microbial resistance.

In 2017 the first meeting of G20 health ministers took place. In the Berlin Declaration ministers acknowledged the need to strengthen health systems worldwide, and the role of the public and private sectors and civil society, recognized the importance of sustainable financing for health systems and the need to build effective and efficient health financing models. The declaration emphasized that “enhanced support to developing countries in strengthening their own health systems would increase their capacity to provide health care, including vaccination, to all and without discrimination, to cope with public health crises and to reduce health inequities.”⁵⁹⁰⁶ In 2017 in Hamburg G20 leaders paid special attention to health issues and especially safeguarding against health crises and strengthening health systems. Leaders underlined that the G20 has a crucial role in advancing preparedness and responsiveness against global health challenges. G20 leaders acknowledged that mass movement of people can pose significant health challenges and encourage countries and International Organisations to strengthen cooperation on the topic. They also advocated for “sufficient and sustainable funding to strengthen global health capacities, including for rapid financing mechanisms and the WHO’s Health Emergencies Programme” and emphasized the need to foster research and development preparedness through globally coordinated models.⁵⁹⁰⁷

In 2019 the Japanese presidency paid special attention to health issues. At their meeting in June 2019 G20 health ministers issued the “G20 Shared Understanding on the Importance of UHC [Universal Health Coverage] Financing in Developing Countries: Towards Sustainable and Inclusive Growth.”⁵⁹⁰⁸ It presents a G20 shared understanding on the critical importance of strengthening health financing for moving towards UHC in developing countries. The health ministers’ Okayama declaration underlined the need for “more strategic use of external funding, aligned with countries’ priorities, which could support domestic resource mobilization in developing countries.”⁵⁹⁰⁹

In 2020 the finance and health ministers met and committed to the G20 Shared Understanding on the Importance of UHC Financing in Developing Countries to improve the resilience, prevention, detection, preparedness and response of health systems through protecting and investing in public health. They recalled their commitment to move towards achieving UHC and stressed the important role of countries’ following their own paths in line with national contexts and priorities to UHC.⁵⁹¹⁰ In Riyadh, G20 leaders committed to support all developing and least developed countries as they face the intertwined health, economic, and social effects of COVID-19, recognizing the specific challenges in Africa and small island developing states.⁵⁹¹¹

Commitment Features

At Riyadh G20 leaders made a commitment to support all developing and least developed countries as they face the intertwined health, economic, and social effects of COVID-19, recognizing the specific challenges in Africa and small island developing states. This commitment requires assisting developing and least developed states in two spheres: health and socio-economic.

Health

All countries continue to fight the pandemic and take actions to save lives, provide vaccines to the population and improve health systems. Providing health-related assistance to developing countries is one of the key actions G20 members can do to help them during the pandemic. This assistance can be delivered in the form of direct supply of medical goods, equipment and medicines, personnel training or sending medical professionals to the country, vaccine support (either direct supply or joint research) and other actions.

Another important aspect is supporting UHC financing in developing countries. The 2019 G20 health ministers' G20 Shared Understanding on the Importance of UHC Financing in Developing Countries outlines several major challenges for developing states' health systems: rising cost pressures due to noncommunicable diseases, aging population, and technological progress; slow movement of workers from the informal to the formal economy; and health emergencies such as pandemics and Antimicrobial resistance.⁵⁹¹² Helping developing countries to address these issues will be counted as compliance with this aspect of the commitment.

Socio-economic

The pandemic has brought economic recession which hit developing countries hard. These states will face severe economic crisis and will need economic support to restore their economies. Providing official development assistance, conducting joint projects, investment in local projects, debt relief, cooperation in the field of energy and other actions can be counted and compliance.

Scoring Guidelines

Background

Advancing global pandemic preparedness, prevention, detection, and response is fundamental to a comprehensive response to the spread of infectious diseases. The COVID-19 pandemic has demonstrated that the global community must take consistent action in all stages of pandemics in order to provide a comprehensive response to global health emergencies and minimize their social and economic repercussions. The World Health Organization (WHO), in particular, emphasized the need to execute preparedness in order to “strengthen the capacity of governments, institutions, and communities to withstand public health emergencies.

At the 2014 Brisbane Summit, G20 members stated its support in implementing International Health Regulations (IHR) to “prevent, detect, report early and rapidly respond to infectious diseases,” as well as “do[ing] what is necessary to ensure the international effort can extinguish the outbreak.”⁶⁰⁶⁹ The G20 leaders’ emphasis and priority on health this year was in the context of the Ebola virus outbreak in Guinea, Liberia, and Sierra Leone.⁶⁰⁷⁰ The G20 members also reaffirmed their commitment to follow applicable WHO recommended measures. Lastly, the G20 members agreed to address longer-term systemic issues and gaps in capability, preparedness and response capacity that expose the global economy to the impacts of infectious disease.”⁶⁰⁷¹

⁶⁰⁷⁰ G20 Leaders’ Brisbane Statement on Ebola, G20 Information Centre (Toronto) 15 November 2014. Access Date: 2 March 2021. <http://www.g20.utoronto.ca/2014/2014-1115-ebola.html>

In 2017, the G20 health ministers met for the first time and published the Berlin Declaration. The G20 health ministers acknowledged the global interconnectedness of societies, governments, and economies and that an infectious disease can have repercussions socially, economically, and politically.⁶⁰⁷² The Berlin Declaration also recognized the G20’s “unique position to lead by example and foster global preparedness for and responsiveness to health crises.”⁶⁰⁷³ The G20 leaders therefore committed to foster global preparedness to health crises by supporting initiatives that strengthen countries’ health systems, “particularly where they are weak and conditions for access to treatment and healthcare are poor.”⁶⁰⁷⁴

In 2018, G20 leaders proclaimed that they would “continue to strengthen core capacities required by International Health Regulations (IHR, 2005) for prevention, detection and response to public health emergencies, while recognizing the critical role played by WHO in this regard.”⁶⁰⁷⁵ However, this remained a fairly broad statement that failed to consider and attempt to foresee how pandemic preparedness, prevention, detection and response to public health emergencies might be hindered by institutional design problems inherent in international organizations, such as the WHO.

In 2019, the leaders stated that they would “strengthen health systems with a focus on quality, including through enhancing health workforce and human resources for policy development,” and that they would “promote healthy and active ageing through policy measures to address...prevention and control of communicable and non-communicable diseases.”⁶⁰⁷⁶ The G20 health members also published the Okayama Declaration that reiterated the importance of global health emergency preparedness, prevention, detection, and response and to, therefore, comply with the IHR and to continue to support the WHO’s role in overseeing IHR implementation.⁶⁰⁷⁷

Any policy measures that were introduced have proven to be only partially effective in successfully preparing for and responding to the health impacts of pandemics like COVID-19 on the human population. Furthermore, the phrase “promote healthy and active ageing” was unclear in that it failed to acknowledge the unique health needs of each population group and the appropriate level of preparedness and response required to address them. In 2020, the leaders vowed to “take all necessary health measures and seek to ensure adequate financing to contain the pandemic and protect people, especially the most vulnerable.”⁶⁰⁷⁸ While much progress has been made by G20 members to combat and respond to COVID-19, seniors and vulnerable people remain linked to the largest number of infections, hospitalizations and deaths.⁶⁰⁷⁹

World leaders recognize that health and the spread of infectious diseases is affected by a variety of economic, environmental and social determinants. In order to appropriately prepare and respond to these factors, “increasing attention should go to ensuring that health policies benefit the least well-off.”⁶⁰⁸⁰ The Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) has stated that the international community has a responsibility to prepare for potential health crises, through strengthening “the capacity of all countries, in particular developing countries, for early warning, risk reduction, and management of national and global health risks.”⁶⁰⁸¹ Indeed, a recent McKinsey report found that government policy which effectively contains the health impacts of COVID-19 might lead to faster economic growth, rebound and recovery.⁶⁰⁸² Consequently, at the 2020 Summit in Riyadh, G20 leaders agreed that they would continue to advance global pandemic preparedness, prevention, detection, and response, while taking into account the unique situation of each member country.

Commitment Features

In this commitment, there are four targets. These are advancing global pandemic: preparedness, prevention detection and response.

“Commit” is understood to mean to do or perform, to pledge or bind (a person or an organization) to a certain course or policy⁶⁰⁸³ “Advanc[ing]” is understood to mean move or push forward, make progress, give active support to, promote, cause an event to occur at an earlier date.⁶⁰⁸⁴ “Global” is understood to mean relating to the whole world, world-wide⁶⁰⁸⁵ “Pandemic” refers to an outbreak of a disease prevalent globally or in the whole world.⁶⁰⁸⁶ In the context of this commitment, it is mainly referring to the COVID-19 pandemic.

“Preparedness” refers to a state of readiness.⁶⁰⁸⁷ Preparedness, in the context of global health emergencies, refers to planning processes prior to the emergence of global health emergencies that attempt to minimize its human mortality, social disruption and economic consequences. Examples of “preparedness,” as recommended by the WHO, include but are not limited to funding to anticipated preparedness planning, establishing organizations responsible for producing pandemic preparedness plans, establishing a core national pandemic planning committee, identifying individuals and organizations that will contribute to planning such as national, regional public health authorities, national virologists, and nongovernmental organizations.⁶⁰⁸⁸ Preparedness, in this commitment, is not limited to the context of the COVID-19 pandemic. Actions for preparedness may be intended for future possible global health emergencies beyond this compliance cycle.

“Prevention” the action of stopping something from happening or arising.⁶⁰⁸⁹ “Prevention, in the context of this commitment, refers to actions G20 members take in preventing their citizens from being infected with infectious diseases such as COVID-19. Examples of “prevention include but are not limited to administering regular sanitization in public settings, implementing COVID-19 information campaigns that prevent the spread of COVID-19, enforcing social distancing rules, and imposing travel restrictions and stay-at-home orders.

“Detection” refers to the action or process of identifying the presence of something concealed.⁶⁰⁹⁰ Examples of “detection” include but are not limited to detecting and investigating the first evidence of sustained human-human transmission of a virus with pandemic potential, investigating and assessing the earliest cases of a disease, establishing organisations that specialize in reporting and surveillance, characterizing the features of the new disease and establishing more accessible testing centers.

“Response” refers to a reaction to something.⁶⁰⁹¹ Response, in the context of this commitment, refers to actions a G20 member takes in reaction to global health emergencies, especially the COVID-19 pandemic, and its relevant repercussions to society, economy, and people’s health. Examples of “response” include but are not limited to distributing personal protective equipment to hospitals, providing targeted health service accessibility to vulnerable segments of society, vaccinating health-care workers, and supporting the Access to COVID-19 Tools Accelerator initiative (through financing, collaboration, personnel development, exchange of best practices).

The commitment has a current component, “We commit to,” and also a near-future-oriented component “advancing global pandemic...⁶⁰⁹²” The structure of the commitment therefore provides member states with urgency and necessity. The clause, “we commit to” is substantially politically binding. Member states have already come to terms with the fact that they have already and continue to make significant commitment “to advancing global pandemic detection, preparedness, prevention and response.” In the immediate future, i.e. in the compliance period, and they will continue to advance efforts in the four aforementioned areas.

The commitment discretely refers to the member states with “we,” thereby referring to the fact that all member states are included and that they will aid each other in combatting the pandemic.⁶⁰⁹³

As well, this commitment has a depth component of how strong the action taken by the G20 member is. A G20 member must take significant action on either the domestic or international level for full compliance. If a G20 member only takes partial action on one or both levels, it would only be considered partial compliance. Partial actions could include verbal reaffirmation of the commitment or attending meetings that discuss global pandemic detection, preparedness, prevention and response. For strong actions, a G20 would have to initiate a program or new law, contribute financial or technical assistance or implement policy changes to implementing specific measures to promote a country or partnership's capacity to advance global pandemic detection, preparedness, prevention and response.

Full compliance, therefore, requires the G20 member to take strong action in all four areas or strong action in three areas and some action in the other. Partial compliance requires the G20 member to take strong action in one or two areas and some action in the other, or some combination of this to demonstrate compliance with at least half or 50% of this commitment. Anything less than this is a -1 for non-compliance.

Scoring Guidelines

| | |
|----|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| -1 | The G20 member taken insufficient action to advance global pandemic detection, preparedness, prevention and response. |
| 0 | The G20 member has taken some action to advance global pandemic detection, preparedness, prevention and response. |
| +1 | The G20 member has taken strong action to advance global pandemic detection, preparedness, prevention and response. |

Australia has fully complied with its commitment to advance global pandemic, preparedness, prevention, detection, and response.

On 16 December 2020, Australia announced an AUD57.8 million investment for aged care as part of its National Partnership on COVID-19 Response Initiative. This will include funding for training and support in infection prevention and control.⁶¹⁷³ Another plan, the AUD11.1 million, Serious Incident Response Scheme to protect senior Australians from abuse and neglect will improve quality and safety at the individual service and broader system level.⁶¹⁷⁴ By reducing preventable incidents from recurring this scheme requires residential aged care providers to manage all incidents with a focus on the safety and wellbeing of citizens.⁶¹⁷⁵ Additionally, investment of AUD15.7 million was announced for allied health services for facilities affected by COVID-19 outbreaks.⁶¹⁷⁶

On 8 January 2021, the National Cabinet of Australia met to discuss Australia's response to the COVID-19 pandemic, topics included the Vaccination Policy and also new domestic and international aviation measures to control the spread of COVID-19 and its emerging variants.⁶¹⁷⁷ The Vaccination Policy will include a nationally consistent roll out policy, helping especially aged workers. The travel protocols domestically require that all travelers and air crew wear masks. Internationally, the protocols require that incoming international travelers present negative COVID-19 tests prior to departure and that air crew take a COVID-19 test every seven days and continue to quarantine between international flights.⁶¹⁷⁸

On 25 January 2021, the Therapeutic Goods Administration (TGA) of Australia provisionally approved the Pfizer/BioNTech COVID-19 vaccine for national use.⁶¹⁷⁹ Prime Minister Scott Morrison said the TGA approval was an important step in the fight against COVID-19 and was reported to have said, “Our priority has always been to keep Australians safe and protect lives and livelihoods. Today’s approval is another big step forward for our community, particularly in the protection of our most vulnerable people.”⁶¹⁸⁰

On 29 January 2021, Minister of Health Greg Hunt responded to help the Australians in the UK who had flights booked with the United Arab Emirates (UAE) flag carrier Emirates.⁶¹⁸¹ The UK had banned flights to the UAE, to the anguish of Australians who were waiting for months to get home from Britain via the UAE. The Australian government announced it would charter an extra 20 dedicated repatriation flights for Australians after Emirates temporarily suspended them.⁶¹⁸² Minister Hunt also added that medical officials would re-examine the next week whether to lift the suspension on quarantine-free travel from New Zealand after the South African virus strain emerged in Auckland.⁶¹⁸³

On 3 February 2021, Minister Hunt, announced that the Australian government is working with Aboriginal Community Controlled Health Services, General Practices, state and territory governments, Primary Health Networks, General Practitioner-led Respiratory Clinics and community pharmacies to ensure that citizens living in regional, rural and remote locations have access to COVID-19 vaccination.⁶¹⁸⁴ This joint national effort will integrate over 2,000 vaccine sites across Australia. “We are working hard to ensure site readiness including specific handling requirements and sufficient cold chain capacity in locations that will be handling frozen vaccines,” Minister Hunt was reported to have said.⁶¹⁸⁵

On 4 February 2021, the Department of Health announced the rollout of a COVID-19 vaccination public information campaign to deliver key information about the COVID-19 vaccination program to people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds. The AUD31 million campaign includes communication activities, such as media advertising in 32 different languages, as well as community engagement initiatives.⁶¹⁸⁶ Messages will target specific multicultural groups to ensure everyone in Australia has a full understanding of the vaccination program. On 8 February 2021, the Australian Government partnered with the Australian College of Nursing to develop and deliver the free and accredited training modules for all COVID-19 vaccination providers. They introduced the COVID-19 – Pfizer – Training Program, which provides free training modules for the COVID-19 vaccination workforce. It covers topics such as multi-dose handling, handling the storage of vaccines, safety, surveillance monitoring, and reporting for adverse events after immunization. The goal of the program is to build a workforce competent in delivering the vaccine.⁶¹⁸⁸

On 16 February 2021, the TGA of Australia provisionally approved the AstraZeneca COVID-19 vaccine for national use.⁶¹⁸⁹ Although, initially the AstraZeneca vaccine will be initially imported from overseas, it will be manufactured locally in due time. Australia is one of the few countries where the vaccine will be manufactured. “The TGA has found the AstraZeneca COVID-19 vaccine to be safe and effective and I welcome their thorough assessment process,” Prime Minister Morrison said.⁶¹⁹⁰

On 21 February 2021, Prime Minister Morrison and Chief Medical Officer Paul Kelly received their first does of the Pfizer vaccine, marking the beginning of Australia’s vaccination program.⁶¹⁹¹ Prime Minister Morrison remarked that, “This is a historic day for Australia. From tomorrow, tens of thousands of Australians over the course of the next week can confidently come forward from those key priority groups that have been defined, to ensure that we move into this next phase of how we’ve been preparing and dealing with COVID-19.”⁶¹⁹²

On 14 March 2021, Australia announced an investment of AUD1.1 billion to extend the country’s COVID-19 health response and suppression strategy until 31 December 2021. Australia’s suppression strategy has been the most successful among OECD countries, having one of the lowest mortality rates. The investment will be used to fund COVID-19 testing and treatment, telehealth services, electronic prescription services, mental health services and aged care facilities.⁶¹⁹³

On 14 March 2021, Australia announced the addition of a new webpage on its Department of Health website aimed at addressing misinformation about the COVID-19 vaccine and vaccine hesitancy, as part of its AUD31 million education campaign.⁶¹⁹⁴

On 23 May 2021, the Australian Government identified India as a high risk country due to the significant increase in COVID-19 positive case numbers. The Australian Government therefore decided to implement a temporary pause on travellers from India entering Australian territory by air if the passenger had been in India within 14 days of the person's intended arrival date in Australia.⁶²⁰⁷

On 27 May 2021, the Department of Health announced that it would be inviting up to 900 additional general practices to join vaccine rollout efforts across the country, in addition to the 4400 already participating.⁶²⁰⁸ New practices can apply to deliver the vaccine through an expression of interest (EOI) process regulated by Primary Health Networks (PHNs), and territorial and national governments.⁶²⁰⁹ These additional practices will be brought into the vaccine rollout program beginning in mid-June to deliver AstraZeneca vaccines to those over the age of 50.⁶²¹⁰

On 2 June 2021, the Government of Australia announced an AUD60 million investment to extend the COVID-19 Aged Care Support Program to 30 June 2022.⁶²¹¹ Through this program, aged care facilities struggling with COVID-19 outbreaks can apply for grants to cover the cost of additional staff, personal protective equipment, cleaning and infection control supplies, and waste management.⁶²¹² The COVID-19 Aged Care Support Program was initially established on 27 March 2020.⁶²¹³

On 4 June 2021, the Department of Health announced that aged care facilities will be required to report the proportion of staff that have been partially and fully vaccinated against COVID-19, beginning on 15 June.⁶²¹⁴ While it remains voluntary for staff to be vaccinated and to disclose if they

On 10 June 2021, the Government of Australia extended several COVID-19 emergency measures implemented under the Biosecurity Act of 2015 until 17 September 2021.⁶²¹⁷ These include mandatory pre-departure testing and mask-wearing for international flights, restrictions on the entry of cruise vessels within Australian territory, restrictions on outbound international travel for Australians, and restrictions on the business activity of retail outlets at international airports.⁶²¹⁸

On 11 June 2021, Australia announced it will commit at least 20 million vaccine doses to a global G7 push to boost access to safe and effective COVID-19 vaccines and pandemic preparedness in developing countries. On 23 September, Australia increased this commitment to up to 60 million doses, including sharing an additional 20 million and procuring a further 20 million doses. On 23 September 2021, more than 3.2 million of these doses have been delivered.⁶²¹⁹

On 18 June 2021, the Government of Australia announced plans to invest AUD1.2 million to ensure multicultural communities have access to information about the COVID-19 vaccination program.⁶²²⁰ This investment will provide small grants for culturally and linguistically diverse groups wishing to run information campaigns about the COVID-19 vaccine in their community.⁶²²¹ The grants will be distributed through the Federation of Ethnic Communities' Council.⁶²²²

On 29 June 2021, the Government of Australia announced an emergency leave extension for people living permanently in residential aged care facilities, who want to temporarily relocate with family to reduce their risk of contracting COVID-19.⁶²²³ Typically, aged care residents are entitled to up to 52

On 3 September 2021, the Government of Australia announced that four million additional doses of the COVID-19 Pfizer vaccine will be arriving as part of a deal with the United Kingdom.⁶²⁹² After batch testing, the doses will be distributed across the country on an equal population basis. 60 per cent will be distributed through the primary care network and 40 per cent will be distributed through the state-operated vaccination clinics.⁶²⁹³

On 24 September 2021, the leaders of the United States, Japan, India and Australia met in their first in-person person summit of the Indo-Pacific Quadrilateral Security Dialogue.⁶²⁹⁴ Following the summit in March, the leaders released a joint statement promoting “a free, open rules-based order.” This encouraged and pledged to combine “medical, scientific, financing, manufacturing and delivery” capacity for COVID-19 vaccines, and combating climate change.⁶²⁹⁵

Australia has taken strong action to advance global pandemic prevention, preparedness and response. It continues to expand programming to support accessibility of the COVID-19 vaccine for various communities across the country, and has engaged in partnerships to support vaccination programs in other countries. It has taken measures to improve COVID-19 detection, such as by providing RAT kits to aged care facilities, and has developed a national plan to contain the virus while easing community restrictions once target vaccination levels are reached.

Thus, Australia has received a score of +1.

On 16 April 2021, over 2.3 million orotracheal intubation drugs will be distributed by the Ministry of Health beginning on April 16.⁶³²⁶ The inputs were acquired in China and donated to the Federal Government by a group of companies formed by Petrobras, Vale, Engie, Itaú Unibanco, Klabin and Raízen.⁶³²⁷ Minister of Health Marcelo Queiroga in a press conference mentioned that the action will reinforce assistance to the Unified Health System and patient care throughout the country.⁶³²⁸ “The obligation to purchase these drugs is from states and municipalities. However, we are in an international public emergency and we have to take the necessary steps to ensure supply throughout the country, especially in smaller municipalities that are unable to purchase,” said Minister Queiroga.⁶³²⁹

On 17 April 2021, Brazil released another BRL2.6 billion for the Ministry of Health to expand the actions carried out in the fight against the pandemic.⁶³³⁰ The resource will be used to purchase medicines that make up the intubation kit and also for new beds in the ICU.⁶³³¹ Of the amount released, BRL1.2 billion will be for the opening of new ICU beds – requested by the state and municipal health departments, in order to serve critically ill patients infected with the new coronavirus.⁶³³² The financial contribution will also be used to buy intubation drugs.⁶³³³ BRL1.4 billion will be allocated so that the Ministry of Health can maintain the stock of inputs for a period of 90 days.⁶³³⁴ The other 100 million include expenses with vaccine distribution logistics, for example, and transporting patients who need care in other states and municipalities.⁶³³⁵

On 20 April 2021, the Ministry of Health authorized 411 adult ICU beds for the care of critically ill patients with covid-19.⁶³³⁶ Several municipalities in the states of Amazonas, Bahia, Ceará, Espírito

On 13 August 2021, the Government of Canada negotiated an additional agreement with Moderna Inc. for additional vaccine supply beyond 2021.⁶⁵¹¹ The Government of Canada announced that it will guarantee access to 40 million additional doses, with the option of 65 million more.⁶⁵¹² The agreement also includes access to vaccine adaptations based on the variant situation in Canada in future.⁶⁵¹³

On 13 August 2021, the Government of Canada announced funding for COVID-19 Safe Voluntary Isolation Sites in Ontario.⁶⁵¹⁴ The new sites will allow people who have COVID-19 or those who have been exposed to it isolate themselves in safe, and reliable accommodations to keep themselves and their communities safe.⁶⁵¹⁵ The additional unspecified amount of funding will go to several counties and regions across Ontario.⁶⁵¹⁶

Canada has taken strong action to fully advance global pandemic preparedness, prevention and response. This has been demonstrated when Canada enacted the Quarantine Act, contributed to the COVID-19 Tools Accelerator and invested in science and technology to speed up vaccine development. Furthermore, Canada made it vital for passengers to undergo COVID-19 tests for detection.

Thus, Canada has received a score of +1.

On 23 August 2021, China donated 300,000 COVID-19 vaccine doses to Ethiopia.⁶⁷⁴⁸ In total, China has provided a total of 1 million doses of COVID-19 vaccines to Ethiopia over the pandemic.⁶⁷⁴⁹

On 27 August 2021, the Chinese embassy of Kyrgyzstan announced that China will strengthen cooperation with Kyrgyzstan in the joint fight against COVID-19 pandemic.⁶⁷⁵⁰ The Chinese government will be providing Kyrgyzstan with a new batch of Chinese vaccines.⁶⁷⁵¹

On 30 August 2021, China launched all-in-one platforms on city-specific COVID-19 containment protocols to help people better adapt to local virus control measures when traveling between cities.⁶⁷⁵² The introduction of the column by the General Office of the State Council is aimed at better coordinating COVID-19 control and economic and social development, and informing enterprises and people of virus control policies, according to authorities.⁶⁷⁵³

On 3 September 2021, China donated COVID-19 vaccines and anti-pandemic supplies to Myanmar.⁶⁷⁵⁴ It includes Sinopharm COVID-19 vaccines, respirators, oxygenators, testing kits, protective masks and clothing.⁶⁷⁵⁵

On 4 September 2021, China's National Pharmaceutical Group Corporation (Sinopharm) unveiled a series of newly-developed COVID-19 vaccines and medicines at the 2021 China International Fair for Trade in Services.⁶⁷⁵⁶ Project chief of Sinopharm Zhu Jingjin announced that they have developed vaccines against coronavirus' Delta and Beta variants.⁶⁷⁵⁷ They will also expand its annual productivity to more than five billion doses in a bid to make China's COVID-19 vaccines global public goods.⁶⁷⁵⁸

On 7 September 2021, National Health Commission official Zheng Zhongwei announced that China has launched multiple research efforts to develop tailored vaccines against emerging COVID-19 variants.⁶⁷⁵⁹ He said that a series of research projects aimed at developing vaccines targeting virus mutations has been rolled out as a precautionary measure, that Chinese vaccine makers have completed preclinical studies on inactivated vaccines designed to tackle the Gamma strain first detected in Brazil and the Delta strain first documented in India.⁶⁷⁶⁰ He added that research into recombinant subunit vaccines designed to ward off different strains is also underway.⁶⁷⁶¹

On 9 September 2021, President Xi Jinping called on BRICS countries to promote global solidarity against COVID-19, uphold true multilateralism and enhance economic cooperation for mutual benefits.⁶⁷⁶² He announced at the summit that China will donate an additional 100 million doses of vaccines to fellow developing countries within this year.⁶⁷⁶³ He also called on BRICS countries to support each other's COVID-19 response, share relevant information and COVID control experience, and uphold a science-based approach to tracing the origins of the virus, and oppose politicization and stigmatization.⁶⁷⁶⁴

China has taken strong action to advance global pandemic preparedness, prevention, detection and response by carrying out measures that control the spread of the virus within the country, supporting other countries in fighting the pandemic through “vaccine cooperation,” issuing a digital health certificate for Chinese travellers and also inventing the first COVID-19 detecting regent.

Thus, China has received a score of +1.

France: +1

France has fully complied with its commitment to advance global pandemic preparedness, prevention, detection and response.

On 25 November 2020, Eurasia Group reported that France contributed EUR123.5 million to the Access to COVID-19 Tools Accelerator (Act-A) initiative.⁶⁷⁶⁵ The goal of this contribution is to ensure that all countries, namely developing nations, will be included in the global response against COVID-19.⁶⁷⁶⁶ The purpose of the funding is to help developing countries in producing and advancing vaccines while guaranteeing equity in vaccine distribution.⁶⁷⁶⁷ In addition, the contribution to Act-A is expected to reap economic benefits for France with an estimated gain of EUR8.3 billion in 2020-25.⁶⁷⁶⁸

On 30 November 2020, the High Authority of Health announced a five-step plan vaccination campaign, beginning with vaccinating the elderly in care homes.⁶⁷⁶⁹ The reasoning behind vaccinating the elderly first is to protect the most vulnerable and high-risk members in society against the virus.⁶⁷⁷⁰

On 18 January 2021, Minister of Health Olivier Véran announced that 45 million free Category 1 masks would be sent to seven million French nationals.⁶⁷⁷¹ The aim is to ensure that the French public avoids using ineffective homemade masks or Category 2 masks in order to protect the public against the highly infectious COVID-19 variants.⁶⁷⁷²

On 31 January 2021, France imposed travel restrictions for non-essential travel from outside of the European Union.⁶⁷⁷³ The goal was to prevent the new COVID-19 variants, including the English and South African COVID-19 mutations, from entering France.⁶⁷⁷⁴ Other measures and restrictions that were put in place were; the closure of all non-food shopping centres with a surface area greater than 20,000 square metres, increased police presence to check non-compliance with the overnight curfews as well as clampdowns on illegal restaurant openings and clandestine parties. Moreover, working-from-home rules were reinforced so that they were encouraged wherever possible.⁶⁷⁷⁵

On 8 February 2021, France began its vaccination strategy for healthcare workers after 270,000 doses of the AstraZeneca vaccine arrived in France.⁶⁷⁷⁶ This was done as the AstraZeneca vaccine is not proven to be efficient on those over the age of 65 and it was decided to be used on healthcare workers to protect them against the virus as a vulnerable group.⁶⁷⁷⁷ Minister V eran confirmed that the AstraZeneca vaccine should be administered.⁶⁷⁷⁸

On 11 February 2021, the High Authority for Health permitted saliva tests to be conducted by asymptomatic people, as opposed to only allowing symptomatic people to access saliva tests.⁶⁷⁷⁹ Saliva tests are seen as an easier, less invasive method of screening compared to the widespread Polymerase Chain Reaction (PCR) test.⁶⁷⁸⁰ The goal of this initiative is to vastly increase the number of COVID-19 screening tests to a minimum of 200,000 weekly tests to identify hidden positive cases that would not have been identified otherwise, as well as to conduct mass screenings in schools, universities and nursing homes.⁶⁷⁸¹ In addition, this method of testing is proven to be more accessible as it may be done in the laboratory or at home through a collection tube.⁶⁷⁸²

On 25 February 2021, France announced a nighttime curfew between 6PM and 6AM in Metropolitan France, with limited exceptions.⁶⁷⁸³ Those who fail to comply with the curfew may be subjected to a EUR135 fine.⁶⁷⁸⁴ The initiative's goal is to contain the spread of the coronavirus without the need of entering a nationwide lockdown again.⁶⁷⁸⁵

On 18 March 2021, Prime Minister Jean Castex announced that 16 regions in France, including Paris Île-de-France, will go into a four-week lockdown starting on 19 March 2021.⁶⁷⁸⁸ The lockdown entails that people may only leave within 10 kilometres from their homes, they may not leave their region, they must work from home for the majority of the week, and only essential businesses may remain open.⁶⁷⁸⁹ The purpose of the lockdown is to restrain the accelerating third wave of the coronavirus as cases are increasing throughout Europe.⁶⁷⁹⁰

On 30 March 2021, the World Health Organization (WHO) and 23 countries, including France, announced their support for the creation of an international treaty that would support the world in future health crises.⁶⁷⁹¹ The aim of this preparedness plan is to better prepare countries to be more robust in the face of global health emergencies “through better alert systems, data sharing, research and the production and distribution of vaccines, medicines, diagnostics and personal protective equipment.”⁶⁷⁹²

On 31 March 2021, France announced that the semi-confinement rules originally applied to 19 regions in France will now apply to all regions for a four-week period, starting 3 April 2021.⁶⁷⁹³ Schools will be closed for 3 weeks, non-essential shops will be shut, those who travel more than 10 kilometres from their homes require a form, curfew starting at 7pm will continue, and work from home is highly encouraged.⁶⁷⁹⁴ The purpose of the semi-confinement expansion is to curb the spread of the new variants which have started targeting those below the age of 60, as 44 per cent of those admitted to the intensive care units (ICU) are below the age of 60.⁶⁷⁹⁵ Additionally, France stated its

On 3 April 2021, France announced that seven of their eight military hospitals in mainland France will be turned into permanent vaccination centres.⁶⁷⁹⁷ It is expected that the seven hospitals will be able to administer up to 50,000 doses every week.⁶⁷⁹⁸ The goal is to fast track vaccinations and assist the other large vaccination centres set up by the government by taking strain off them.⁶⁷⁹⁹

On 4 April 2021, France enforced that if anyone violates the travel restrictions, set in place on 3 April 2021, they risk a EUR135 fine.⁶⁸⁰⁰ If it is a repeat offense, the fine might increase to EUR200.⁶⁸⁰¹ If you commit three offenses within a month, you might be sentenced to 6 months of jail time, EUR3,750 fine, and community service.⁶⁸⁰² These penalties are in place to ensure that domestic travel restrictions are being followed in order to decrease the risk of variants spreading.⁶⁸⁰³

On 13 April 2021, France introduced the first drive-in vaccination centre in Saint-Jean-de-Védas.⁶⁸⁰⁴ The goal of this initiative is to increase vaccinations to the country's upcoming goal of 20 million doses in hopes of opening up the country by mid-May after seeing the successful vaccination scheme in the United States.⁶⁸⁰⁵ Since the drive-in will be located outside of the existing centre, they expect it to double the doses conducted and apply drive-ins to the rest of the country.⁶⁸⁰⁶ The goal of this initiative is to provide another accessible means of vaccinating that anyone with a vehicle can take advantage of, as well as help accelerate national vaccination figures.⁶⁸⁰⁷

On 23 April 2021, France was the first country to donate COVID-19 vaccinations to COVID-19 Vaccines Global Access, which is ACT-A's vaccination pillar with the goal of providing 30 per cent of the world's population with vaccines by the start of 2022.⁶⁸⁰⁸ France donated 500,000 doses from its own domestic vaccine supply.⁶⁸⁰⁹ The purpose of this contribution is to take the first step to ensure everyone will eventually be able to vaccinate globally and encourage other developed countries to contribute to ACT-A.⁶⁸¹⁰

On 26 April 2021, the Ministry of Europe and Foreign Affairs announced updated travel restrictions for any travelers from five countries: Argentina, Brazil, Chile, India and South Africa.⁶⁸¹¹ The restrictions entail that travelers from these countries must present urgent reasons to travel, conduct a PCR test and sworn declaration, and complete a mandatory 10-day quarantine upon arrival with occasional police checks.⁶⁸¹² The purpose for these strict restrictions is to prevent the spread of the new contagious variant discovered in India and other variants.⁶⁸¹³

On 30 April 2021, France announced that it found the first three cases of the Indian variant in France, and that the variant carriers are isolated in hotels and have been contact traced.⁶⁸¹⁴ The purpose of this is to ensure that the dangerous variant does not spread further throughout the country as other variants have, such as the UK variant which is estimated to account for 75 per cent of all cases in France.⁶⁸¹⁵ Additionally, it is to alert the country to not underestimate the Indian strain as many aspects remain unknown, such as the vaccine's efficiency with this variant.⁶⁸¹⁶

On 2 May 2021, France delivered to India 28 tonnes of ready-to-use medical supplies including eight large oxygen plants as part of the first phase of its solidarity mission.⁶⁸¹⁷ The French Embassy said that the supplies were worth more than INR170 million and are proof that the two nations are standing with each other in the fight against COVID-19.⁶⁸¹⁸ Moreover, in Spring 2020, when French hospitals were facing acute shortages, India provided life-saving help through the export of critical medical drugs.⁶⁸¹⁹

On 8 May 2021, France imposed a mandatory 10-day quarantine to all travelers from additional countries, including Qatar, Turkey, Bangladesh, Pakistan, Sri Lanka, Nepal and the United Arab Emirates.⁶⁸²⁰ Travelers from these countries must present a negative coronavirus test result taken 36 hours prior to arrival and declare where they are staying to quarantine.⁶⁸²¹ Anyone caught breaking these rules is subject to a fine of EUR1000, or EUR1500 if it is a repeated offense.⁶⁸²² The purpose of this restriction is to prevent the spread of the virus due to the accelerating number of cases in these countries.⁶⁸²³

On 11 May 2021, France vowed to allocate five per cent of its total vaccine supply to COVAX.⁶⁸²⁴ This initiative is to ensure that every country has access to vaccines to help end the pandemic globally.⁶⁸²⁵

On 21 May 2021, President Emmanuel Macron promised to donate at least 30 million vaccines by the end of 2021.⁶⁸²⁶ It is predicted that France will allocate approximately EUR500 million to ACT-A between 2021 and 2022.⁶⁸²⁷ The purpose of this funding allocation and vaccine donation is to fulfil the pillars of ACT-A that France committed to in order to provide poor countries with the resources needed to end the pandemic.⁶⁸²⁸

On 28 May 2021, President Emmanuel Macron said that France would “invest in boosting the production of COVID-19 vaccines in Africa” considering the continent’s lack of vaccine supplies.⁶⁸²⁹

He added that France was already making deals with South African pharmaceutical companies.⁶⁸³⁰ He also expressed his support for removing intellectual property rights on vaccines to permit more countries to produce their vaccines locally and called for the regulation of vaccine prices as many African countries were being charged a higher price for vaccines than western countries.⁶⁸³¹ The reason behind France's stance on the vaccine issue in African countries is based on its commitment to provide assistance under ACT-A.⁶⁸³²

On 31 May 2021, France imposed travel restrictions on British tourists allowing only essential travel.⁶⁸³³ British travellers are also required to self-isolate for a week upon their arrival to France.⁶⁸³⁴ This is a new response to the spread of the Indian variant in the United Kingdom.⁶⁸³⁵

On 3 June 2021, France donated 184,000 AstraZeneca vaccines to Senegal under the COVAX initiative.⁶⁸³⁶ The purpose of this donation is to fulfil the goals of COVAX to provide poor countries with vaccines that will protect them against the pandemic.⁶⁸³⁷

On 9 June 2021, France introduced a colour-coded system, also known as the traffic light system, to classify countries around the world and each of their entry requirements into France.⁶⁸³⁸ Each country is classified under either green, orange, or red.⁶⁸³⁹ The green countries include Australia, South Korea, Israel, Japan, Lebanon, New Zealand and Singapore, and all the countries in Europe, excluding the United Kingdom.⁶⁸⁴⁰ Green country vaccinated travelers can enter France without taking a PCR test; however, unvaccinated travelers must take a PCR test prior to their arrival.⁶⁸⁴¹ The orange countries include the United Kingdom, United States, and Canada.⁶⁸⁴² Vaccinated travelers can enter France but must complete a PCR test less than 72 hours prior to their arrival.⁶⁸⁴³ Unvaccinated travelers from these countries will only be permitted to enter France under urgent conditions.⁶⁸⁴⁴ They must present a negative PCR test and complete a 7-day quarantine.⁶⁸⁴⁵ Red countries include India, Turkey and Brazil.⁶⁸⁴⁶ Both vaccinated and unvaccinated travelers from these countries cannot enter France, unless it is for compelling reasons.⁶⁸⁴⁷ They are also required to present a negative PCR test and self-isolate for seven days if they are vaccinated and ten days if they are not.⁶⁸⁴⁸ France implemented this traffic light system in order to effectively manage people entering France from different countries once its borders have reopened, while making it generally simpler for vaccinated individuals to enter.⁶⁸⁴⁹

On 9 June 2021, the Government of France launched the health pass to allow people to access crowded events or places.⁶⁸⁵⁰ The health pass comes in both paper and digital form, and shows either proof of vaccination, proof of recovery from coronavirus, or proof of a negative coronavirus test.⁶⁸⁵¹ Events that bring in more than 1000 people will require the attendees to present their health pass, such as sport festivals.⁶⁸⁵² The reason for the health pass is to “revive economic activity as quickly as possible while avoiding an epidemic resumption.”⁶⁸⁵³ It is also a tool to encourage French residents to get vaccinated to protect themselves and others.⁶⁸⁵⁴

On 17 June 2021, France moved Afghanistan, the Maldives and Paraguay to its red travel list.⁶⁸⁵⁵ This is due to the high number of cases in these countries.⁶⁸⁵⁶

On 23 June 2021, government spokesman Gabriel Attal announced that Russia was going to be added to the red list.⁶⁸⁵⁷ This decision has come about as a result of the increased cases of the Delta variant, especially in Moscow, partly due to the slow vaccine distributions; Seychelles and Namibia were also added to this list.⁶⁸⁵⁸

On 27 June 2021, France sent a humanitarian plane to Sudan carrying three tones of “face masks, gloves, medical protective clothing, oxygen generators, medical devices, accurate COVID-19 test equipment, tents and medical kits for disposable vaccination centres.”⁶⁸⁵⁹ The purpose is to provide the Sudanese government with the resources that it needs to open mobile vaccination and screening centres in rural areas to help reduce virus transmission.⁶⁸⁶⁰

On 5 July 2021, France extended the mandatory quarantine to all travelers from the same seven countries announced on 8 May 2021.⁶⁸⁶¹ This is because of the high number of cases in these countries and to prevent the mutations from entering France.⁶⁸⁶²

On 5 July 2021, France donated and delivered 228,000 COVID-19 vaccines to Zambia under COVAX.⁶⁸⁶³ The reason behind this donation is to accelerate the vaccination campaign in Zambia where cases and deaths have increased due to the third wave.⁶⁸⁶⁴ Furthermore, it will help protect high-risk members in their society, including health care workers and vulnerable segments of society.⁶⁸⁶⁵

On 9 July 2021, Île-de-France continued to set up free screening test tents at major railway stations in the region.⁶⁸⁶⁶ These tents have been installed since November 2020 and the results are ready in 20 minutes.⁶⁸⁶⁷ This initiative is a way to increase COVID-19 testing by providing fast and accessible tests at no charge.⁶⁸⁶⁸

On 9 July 2021, Caen-Carpique Airport opened a screening centre on the airport's first floor.⁶⁸⁶⁹ No prior appointments are necessary, and all travelers, airport staff and residents may access this centre to take a test.⁶⁸⁷⁰ The purpose of this screening centre is to provide accessible testing options to travelers who need to be tested prior to arriving at their destination, and residents.⁶⁸⁷¹

On 12 July 2021, President Emmanuel Macron announced that vaccines will become obligatory for healthcare workers.⁶⁸⁷² Initially, French authorities predicted that they could convince people to vaccinate voluntarily.⁶⁸⁷³ However, due to the slow vaccination rates and high number of cases because of the new Delta variant, it was decided that all health workers must get vaccinated by 15 September 2021.⁶⁸⁷⁴

On 13 July 2021, Government of France's spokesman Gabriel Attal announced that Tunisia, Indonesia, Mozambique and Cuba will be added to the country's red list.⁶⁸⁷⁵ The reason behind this decision is the high number of cases and variants in Indonesia, Mozambique and Cuba, and the high death rate in Tunisia, due to lack of vaccines.⁶⁸⁷⁶

On 13 July 2021, France's national recovery and resilience plan (NRRP) was approved by the European Council. It outlines the recovery investments for which France is seeking European funding.⁶⁸⁷⁷ This NRRP was formally submitted in late April 2021 to the EU Commission which was welcomed with a positive assessment. As a result, of the EUR672.5 billion that was allocated by the Member States for the European Recovery and Resilience Facility (RRF), EUR39.4 billion will be allocated to France in grants. France will be the member state to receive the third largest funds, after Spain and Italy.⁶⁸⁷⁸

On 18 July 2021, France donated and delivered 324,000 COVID-19 vaccines to Tunisia under COVAX.⁶⁸⁷⁹ France plans to send another shipment of 800,000 vaccines to Tunisia shortly.⁶⁸⁸⁰ France will also send millions of masks, gloves, oxygen supplies, and medical equipment to protect people globally from the virus, reduce fatalities, and gradually return to regular life.⁶⁸⁸¹ In addition, France is complying with its ACT-A commitment.⁶⁸⁸²

On 21 July 2021, France announced that the health pass must now be presented in cultural and tourist establishments, such as museums and cinemas.⁶⁸⁸³ The health pass will also be required in areas and events where there are more than 50 people.⁶⁸⁸⁴ These additional restrictions were imposed because of the acceleration of Delta variant cases throughout France.⁶⁸⁸⁵

On 21 July 2021, President Emmanuel Macron announced that the health pass will be mandated to cafés, shopping centres and restaurants in August after lawmakers vote on this extension.⁶⁸⁸⁶ The health pass will likely be used for planes, trains and buses for long-distance trips.⁶⁸⁸⁷

August.⁶⁸⁸⁸ Every adult must present either proof of vaccination or a negative coronavirus test result.⁶⁸⁸⁹ While this rule will initially apply to adults, those over the age of 12 must present the health pass starting 30 September 2021.⁶⁸⁹⁰ The reason the Parliament passed this law was “to protect vulnerable populations and hospitals” since cases are increasing, while also reducing the chances of entering a new lockdown.⁶⁸⁹¹

On 8 August 2021, French Health Minister Olivier Véran “appealed for volunteer doctors and nurses to travel to the overseas territories of Guadeloupe and Martinique.”⁶⁸⁹² This is due to the current wave of cases and low vaccination rates that are causing hospitals to get full.⁶⁸⁹³ This initiative aims to help the overwhelmed hospitals and reduce the number of fatalities in the overseas French regions.⁶⁸⁹⁴

On 9 August 2021, France donated 108,000 AstraZeneca vaccines to Somalia.⁶⁸⁹⁵ The reason behind this donation is to boost Somalia’s low vaccination rate by protecting vulnerable people and frontline workers from the virus, as a part of the bigger picture to ensure equitable access to vaccines worldwide.⁶⁸⁹⁶ The donation was done at a strategic time when cases were increasing rapidly daily.⁶⁸⁹⁷

On 18 August 2021, France announced that people either selling or buying fake health passes will be subject to large fines.⁶⁸⁹⁸ The counterfeiters may receive fines up to EUR150,000 and up to five years

On 18 August 2021, France sent “medical personnel and oxygen supplies” to the French islands Guadeloupe and Martinique.⁶⁹⁰² The distribution of medical supplies and personnel happened because of the wave of Delta variant cases and deaths that are overwhelming hospitals on the islands.⁶⁹⁰³ Additionally, 98 per cent of patients admitted in the intensive care units in Guadeloupe are unvaccinated as vaccination rates are very low compared to mainland France.⁶⁹⁰⁴

On 21 August 2021, France added both Morocco and Algeria to the red list.⁶⁹⁰⁵ This decision has come about as a result of the new spike of coronavirus cases in both countries, which caused authorities in Rabat to extend the nighttime curfew and restrict domestic travel.⁶⁹⁰⁶ French authorities also want to prevent more cases entering the country, given the recent spike of emergency room cases in France.⁶⁹⁰⁷

On 27 August 2021, France delivered 218,400 doses of AstraZeneca vaccines to Sudan through COVAX.⁶⁹¹¹ The reason for France's donation is to fulfil its pledge for equitable distribution of vaccines to all countries regardless of their wealth.⁶⁹¹² In addition, this donation helps fully vaccinate more people who have only taken the first dose so far, which will help curb the spread of the coronavirus.⁶⁹¹³ The donation was also done at a strategic time when cases were increasing daily “while the country is preparing to re-open schools after three years of numerous interruptions.”⁶⁹¹⁴

On 29 August 2021, France added Turkey, Iran and Georgia to the red list.⁶⁹¹⁵ This decision is due to the increase of coronavirus cases in these countries.⁶⁹¹⁶

On 31 August 2021, France announced that it was donating 10 million Pfizer and AstraZeneca vaccines to Africa through COVAX and the Africa Vaccine Acquisition Trust to fulfil its pledge to donate at least 60 million vaccines worldwide.⁶⁹¹⁷ In addition to complying to its ACT-A commitment, France's reason behind this donation is to ensure the “equitable access” of vaccines worldwide and help put a collective end to the coronavirus by vaccinating every person.⁶⁹¹⁸ been euthanized to prevent additional cases of this strain.⁶⁹²⁰ All poultry and birds have been quarantined in high risk areas and all poultry is being kept in shelters.⁶⁹²¹ The reason that France is taking these precautions is to reduce the risk of the virus spreading.⁶⁹²²

On 21 September 2021, Prime Minister Jean Castex has announced that the country's authorities are preparing a bill to extend the Health Pass requirement.⁶⁹²³ The extension of the bill was in response to the suggestion of President Emmanuel Macron. The "health pass" was introduced in June by the country's authorities after the Parliament approved a draft law.⁶⁹²⁴

France has taken strong action to advance global pandemic preparedness, prevention, detection and response by administering a robust vaccination policy, conducting saliva tests and enacting curfews and social distancing policies.

Thus, France has received a score of +1.

Germany has fully complied with the commitment to advance global pandemic preparedness, prevention, detection and response.

On 26 November 2020, Germany adopted the Health Care and Long-Term Care Improvement Act.⁶⁹²⁵ It comprises a number of measures to provide supplementary funding for statutory health insurance.⁶⁹²⁶ Federal Minister of Health Jens Spahn reportedly said that "The pandemic is also a burden on the statutory health insurance companies, due to lower income and higher expenditure. This burden should not be balanced by the contributors alone."⁶⁹²⁷ The Act also funds 20,000 additional nursing assistant and geriatric care jobs, as well as extends the Care Support Allowance, which is a wage replacement benefit for individuals who have taken over home care due to the COVID-19 pandemic.⁶⁹²⁸

On 7 December 2020, Minister Spahn announced changes to the Medical Devices Dispensing Ordinance which began allowing teachers to obtain and use rapid COVID-19 tests at day-care

On 15 December 2020, the German Presidency of the Council of the European Union reached a preliminary agreement with the European Parliament on the EU4Health program for 2021-2027.⁶⁹³¹ This program has a budget of EUR5.1 billion and provides a solid basis for EU action in the health sector based on the lessons learned from the COVID-19 pandemic.⁶⁹³² It promotes measures to supplement national stocks of essential products in times of crisis at the EU level, as well as supports measures that enable the mobilization of healthcare workers to crisis areas.⁶⁹³³

On 16 December 2020, the Federal Office of Economics and Export Control published a new guideline on federal funding of production facilities for point-of-care antigen testing.⁶⁹³⁴ The funding is intended to support companies building antigen-testing production capabilities in Germany.⁶⁹³⁵ Up to EUR200 million is available for investment in new production facilities or expansion of existing facilities, with the goal of allowing Germany to rely on the domestic market for COVID-19 testing.⁶⁹³⁶

On 21 December 2020, Minister Spahn presented the Coronavirus Vaccination Ordinance.⁶⁹³⁷ The ordinance specifies the order of priority for vaccinations.⁶⁹³⁸ The three priority groups outlined in the ordinance include people over the age of 80 and healthcare workers, people over the age of 70 and those with chronic health conditions, and people over the age of 60 and essential employees, including public servants and teachers.⁶⁹³⁹

On 31 January 2020, the Federal Cabinet adopted a new Coronavirus entry regulation.⁶⁹⁴⁰ The regulation requires that anyone entering Germany from a risk area be able to prove within 48 hours of entry that they are not infected with the coronavirus.⁶⁹⁴¹ Minister Spahn emphasized the need to protect Germany from emerging coronavirus variants.⁶⁹⁴² Additionally, all travelers entering Germany will receive an SMS on their mobile device informing them of current COVID-19 regulations in place.⁶⁹⁴³

On 19 January 2021, the Federal Ministry of Health issued the Coronavirus Surveillance Ordinance.⁶⁹⁴⁴ The ordinance obliges laboratories and facilities carrying out sequencing of SARS-CoV-2 to transmit the genome sequence data to the Robert Koch Institute.⁶⁹⁴⁵ The goal of this ordinance is to ensure that data pertaining to the evolution of viruses and new variants is collected and evaluated at a central point.⁶⁹⁴⁶ This demonstrates Germany's efforts for early detection of COVID-19 variants.

On 19 February 2021, Germany committed EUR1.5 billion to the Access to COVID-19 Tools Accelerator (ACT) and the COVID-19 Vaccines Global Access (COVAX), which Chancellor Angela Merkel pledged at the Virtual G7 leaders meeting.⁶⁹⁴⁷ The ACT Accelerator aims to develop, produce and ensure the fair distribution of COVID-19 vaccines, tests and treatments.⁶⁹⁴⁸ COVAX is the vaccine pillar of the ACT Accelerator and is led by the WHO, GAVI The Vaccine Alliance and Coalition for Epidemic Preparedness Innovations.⁶⁹⁴⁹ These three entities are working to ensure that vaccines are accessible and affordable for all countries, especially developing ones.⁶⁹⁵⁰

On 11 March 2021, the Federal Ministry of Labor and Social Affairs extended the Corona Occupational Health and Safety Ordinance until April 30, 2021.⁶⁹⁵¹ The ordinance is in place to

On 8 April 2021, Development Minister Gerd Muller emphasized the need for nature conservation on the occasion of World Health Day.⁶⁹⁶⁶ He noted that 75 per cent of newly emerging infectious diseases arise from animals.⁶⁹⁶⁷ “Where rainforests burn and wild animals are wiped out, viruses lose their original host and jump more easily to humans,” Minister Muller wrote in an article for the Rheinische Post.⁶⁹⁶⁸ Minister Muller also called on the international community to support coronavirus vaccinations in developing countries.⁶⁹⁶⁹

On 13 April 2021, the Federal Cabinet extended the Coronavirus Protection Ordinance until 28 April 2021.⁶⁹⁷⁰ The Ordinance requires that persons entering the country take a coronavirus test no more than 48 hours before entry.⁶⁹⁷¹ In virus variants areas, the test must be taken no more than 12 hours before departure.⁶⁹⁷²

On 13 April 2021, the Federal Cabinet adopted an amendment to the Infection Protection Act, which requires that if the number of new infections with the coronavirus per 100,000 inhabitants exceeds 100 in a set district or city on three consecutive days, additional measures will come into place the following day.⁶⁹⁷³ These measures are in place to reduce contacts and include closing leisure and sports facilities.⁶⁹⁷⁴

On 21 April 2021, the Federal Cabinet approved an amendment to the Occupational Health and Safety Ordinance.⁶⁹⁷⁵ As of 20 April, employers are obligated to offer their employees that cannot work at home coronavirus tests at least once a week.⁶⁹⁷⁶ Risk groups are offered tests twice a week.⁶⁹⁷⁷ “In this way we can prevent chains of infection, protect health and ultimately avoid company closures. This new obligation has become necessary so that really all workers in the company receive an offer of testing,” explained Federal Labour Minister Hubertus Heil.⁶⁹⁷⁸ The cost

On 24 September 2021, the leaders of the United States, Japan, India and Australia met at their first in-person person summit of the Indo-Pacific Quadrilateral Security Dialogue.⁷¹²² Following the summit in March, the leaders released a joint statement promoting “a free, open rules-based order.” The statement encouraged and pledged to combine “medical, scientific, financing, manufacturing and delivery” capacity for COVID-19 vaccines, and combating climate change.⁷¹²³

India has taken some action to advance global pandemic prevention, detection, and response by implementing initiatives such as executing the national vaccination roll out by a digital platform and the disbursement of masks and sanitizer to citizens. However, it has not demonstrated strong action in the area of pandemic preparedness.

Thus, India has received a score of 0.

Indonesia has taken strong action to advance global pandemic prevention, detection and response. It has taken steps to advance its capabilities in testing, detection, and contact tracing, and has taken several measures to make COVID-19 vaccinations accessible. Indonesia has been proactive in implementing measures to control surges in community transmission around religious holidays. It has also supported other countries in the fight against COVID-19.

Thus, Indonesia has received a score of +1.

On 13 April 2021, the Ministry of Health announced that they will make the COVID-19 vaccine mandatory for specific professions, such as doctors and teachers.⁷⁴⁵⁵ This measure will ensure all frontline and vulnerable workers are eventually vaccinated to protect themselves.⁷⁴⁵⁶

On 20 April 2021, Russia announced that starting 1 May 2021, all Russians arriving from abroad must complete two coronavirus tests within 5 days after their arrival, both tests at least one day apart.⁷⁴⁵⁷ Those arriving from Turkey and Tanzania will have to fulfil this requirement starting 21 April 2021.⁷⁴⁵⁸ Rospotrebnadzor employees can conduct selective testing for foreign travelers into Russia.⁷⁴⁵⁹ This measure is intended to ensure most incoming travelers do not carry the virus and carry the risk of spreading it.⁷⁴⁶⁰

On 26 April 2021, President Vladimir Putin announced that the dates 4 May 2021 until 7 May 2021 would be non-working days.⁷⁴⁶¹ Considering 1 May 2021 to 3 May 2021 and 8 May 2021 to 10 May 2021 are national holidays, Russians will have a total of 10 days off work.⁷⁴⁶² This measure is a part of the Ministry of Health's efforts to ensure that coronavirus cases do not spike due to the May holidays.⁷⁴⁶³

On 13 May 2021, Russia announced its detection its first case of the Indian variant of COVID-19.⁷⁴⁶⁴

On 13 July 2021, Russia was announced that 31 regions throughout the country introduced mandatory vaccinations.⁷⁴⁶⁵ The heads of all these regions in Russia have signed decrees that make it mandatory for certain categories of people to vaccinate, such as those who work within the service sectors.⁷⁴⁶⁶ For instance, the Perm Territory requires a minimum of “60 per cent of employees in the spheres of trade, services, catering, education” and other industries to vaccinate.⁷⁴⁶⁷ Due to the high number of cases throughout Russia, various regions started to follow Moscow's lead in taking strict measures to ensure the protection of their people.⁷⁴⁶⁸

On 15 July 2021, Russia was announced that over 70 per cent of healthcare workers were already vaccinated against the coronavirus in Moscow.⁷⁴⁶⁹ This comes after Moscow "mandated the shots for many of those employed in health care, education, retail, public transport and hospitality and services sector."⁷⁴⁷⁰ In addition, 66 per cent of education workers and 76 per cent of social workers also got the vaccine.⁷⁴⁷¹ This increase in vaccination came as a result of Moscow's decision to make vaccines obligatory to certain sectors due to the increased number of cases.⁷⁴⁷²

On 19 July 2021, Russia announced that vaccination centers will open at the seaport, central market, shopping centres and the city circus in Sochi.⁷⁴⁷³ So far, 43 per cent of Sochi's residents are vaccinated.⁷⁴⁷⁴ This initiative is supposed to provide its residents with several accessible areas to vaccinate in order to protect everyone from the novel coronavirus and its variants.⁷⁴⁷⁵

On 19 July 2021, Deputy Prime Minister for Social Policy, Labour, Health and Pension Provision Tatyana Golikova, announced that Russia had developed a project known as the "sanitary shield" in which RUB30 billion was going to be allocated to protect Russia against future pandemics and viruses.⁷⁴⁷⁶ The project's goal is to prevent the transfer of dangerous viruses into Russia, prevent potential pandemics from arising, create new testing systems in only four days to detect viruses, develop new vaccines within four months, and create a reliable information source where people can receive updates on the public health situation.⁷⁴⁷⁷ Moreover, existing laboratories will be modernized and new laboratories will be built to further this program.⁷⁴⁷⁸ These goals are to be achieved by the

On 7 August 2021, the Government of Russia announced that they were allocating RUB127 million from the government's reserve fund "to ensure the work of mobile teams for the treatment of patients with coronavirus."⁷⁴⁸¹ Mobile teams, which are used in many territories in the country, allow specialists "from federal medical institutions and specialized universities" to go to regions with extremely high cases to assist colleagues and help patients.⁷⁴⁸² This fund allocation covers the medical professionals' wages and travel costs.⁷⁴⁸³ The reason for this funding is to assist regions facing difficult waves of the coronavirus by sending professionals.⁷⁴⁸⁴

On 7 August 2021, Egypt announced that it received 175,000 Sputnik V coronavirus vaccinations from Russia.⁷⁴⁸⁵ This exchange is a part of the several shipments Egypt expects in order to fully vaccinate its whole population.⁷⁴⁸⁶ The shipment was implemented to help protect people against the coronavirus and avoid deaths, as well as ensure that every country worldwide has access to vaccines.⁷⁴⁸⁷

On 16 August 2021, Russia extended the suspension of travel from and to Tanzania until 2 September 2021 due to the current health situation in Tanzania.⁷⁴⁸⁸ This measure is to help protect Russia from additional coronavirus cases from entering the country.⁷⁴⁸⁹

would “expand the network of overseas labs cooperating with Russian laboratories.”⁷⁴⁹¹ The reason for these measures is to ensure Russia is prepared and secured in the case of any future health emergencies.⁷⁴⁹² Additionally, expanding the network of foreign labs will help Russia identify potential arising risks.⁷⁴⁹³ The development of these biosafety level laboratories will also help develop “express testing methods to detect various infections within an hour.”⁷⁴⁹⁴

On 3 September 2021, Russia announced that it will have 30 laboratories open by the year 2030 which will function to work with dangerous viruses that may develop to fatal diseases.⁷⁴⁹⁵ These labs will ensure that sufficient research can be done on these viruses to ensure the security of Russians against potentially dangerous health crises.⁷⁴⁹⁶

On 3 September 2021, the Cabinet of Ministers announced that they were allocating RUB2 billion from the government’s reserve fund to open 15 new PCR screening centers in large Russian cities and laboratories, such as mobile laboratories, as well as other measures to ensure the effectiveness of the sanitary shield.⁷⁴⁹⁷ The reason behind this investment is to accelerate “diagnosis of infectious diseases” in order to prevent the spread of contagious diseases and to create a sanitary shield around the country.⁷⁴⁹⁸

On 7 September 2021, the Government of Russia announced that the rest of the RUB2 billion will go towards funding the creation of four biochemical laboratories.⁷⁵⁰⁵ These laboratories are meant to focus on studying the coronavirus variants and other new infectious diseases.⁷⁵⁰⁶ The laboratories also focus on tracking, identifying and diagnosing viruses.⁷⁵⁰⁷ The reason for funding the creation of these new biochemical laboratories is to ensure the success of the sanitary shield in protecting Russians against the spread of viruses.⁷⁵⁰⁸

On 7 September 2021, the Government of Russia announced that PCR centers were opening in the city of Yekaterinburg following the RUB223 million allocation towards opening PCR centers throughout the country.⁷⁵⁰⁹ The reason behind the opening of this center in Yekaterinburg is to boost diagnostic tests to prevent the spread of the coronavirus.⁷⁵¹⁰

Russia has taken strong action to advance global pandemic prevention, detection and response. Through social distancing and quarantine, it has prevented the spread of infectious diseases, detected COVID-19 variants and concealed viruses, and responded to the health emergency by administering a robust vaccination strategy. However, it has not demonstrated strong action in the preparedness area.

Thus, Russia has received a score of 0.
