"Let it be said of Canada and of Canadians that we saw the crisis; that we did act; that we took risks; that we were loyal to our friends and open with our adversaries; that we lived up to our ideals; and that we have done what we could to lift the shadow of war."

PIERRE ELLIOTT TRUDEAU
House of Commons, February 9, 1984

The Trudeau Centre for Peace and Conflict Studies is among the top programs of its kind in the world. The centre takes undergraduate students beyond the traditional study of international relations to examine the causes of violent strife both among and within countries. It provides a deep understanding of the interdisciplinary nature of peace and conflict; on-the-ground field placement to augment classroom work; the opportunity to conduct original research in the field; and direct engagement with the world's top researchers on the causes and resolution of mass violence. For more information on upcoming initiatives and events, including the 2007 pilot run of the centre's new study abroad program in Masai Mara, please consult our website.

The Centre for International Studies (CIS) is the hub of the Munk Centre for International Studies at the University of Toronto. At the heart of CIS are resident and non-resident U of T faculty members from a wide range of disciplines, including anthropology, economics, geography, history, international relations, law, medicine, political science, and sociology. It also provides a base for distinguished visitors, research associates, and doctoral and post-doctoral research fellows. The Centre has become well-known for its work in international economics, global public policy, and foreign policy analysis. CIS is currently home of an innovative, interdisciplinary teaching programme — the Collaborative Master's Degree in International Relations. It also hosts the Collaborative Program in Comparative, International, and Development Education at OISE/UT, the Ethnic, Immigration and Pluralism Studies Program, the Global Cities Program and others.

CIS is a proud sponsor and host institution of the G8 Research Group
